Red Leaders Prepare For Czech Visit

B&K Get Rid Of Last Stalinists, Plan Prague Trip

By HAROLD K. MEKS
MOSCOW (U. S. P. M.) — Having cleaned the last of their Stalinist opposition out of the Kremlin, Premier Bulganin and Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev packed their bags today for a trip to Czechoslovakia.

Meanwhile, Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan, the first top Soviet official to talk to Westerners since the announcement of the high-level shakeup, said the changes were a victory for the forces of "peace, friendship and coexistence."

Western reaction to the downfall of V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov, Lazar Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov still was mixed, but generally a wait-and-see attitude continued to prevail.

While Mikoyan spoke with reporters yesterday at a Fourth of July reception at the American Embassy, it was announced that Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich had been fired from their government jobs. Shepilov, who held no government position, was not mentioned. It had earlier been announced that all four were ousted from their Communist party posts although not from the party.

Reports from Polish sources in Warsaw that Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich had been placed under house arrest could not be confirmed in Moscow. The Polish accounts said Shepilov was still at liberty.

An official announcement said Khrushchev and Bulganin would leave Moscow for their scheduled visit to Czechoslovakia. This was seen as an obvious move to show that everything in the Kremlin is under control.

Was Stalin Comrade
Molotov, one of Stalin's last surviving Bolshevik comrades, had been a first deputy premier and minister of state control. Malenkov, Stalin's successor as premier until Khrushchev's ouster, was a first deputy premier and minister of electric power stations. Kaganovich was a first deputy premier and recently had been referred to as minister of building materials.

A Moscow radio broadcast said Alexei S. Pavlenko had been given Malenkov's power station post. Pavlenko was Malenkov's predecessor in the job and served as deputy minister while Malenkov headed the ministry.

Soviet Army Accuses Group Of 'Treachery'

MOSCOW (U. S. P. M.) — The Soviet army today accused the four deposed Kremlin leaders of treachery and of threatening to undermine the Soviet Union's defenses.

These grave charges appeared in a long article in the Soviet press. (Continued on Page 2; Col. 6)

Boy, 17, Burned As Firecrackers Explode In Car

CHEROKEE, Okla. (U. S. P. M.) — A 17-year-old boy was burned yesterday when 144 packages of firecrackers exploded inside a car here. The explosion demolished the auto and shattered windows of a nearby church.

Marvin James Loudermilk suffered burns over 65 per cent of his body, said hospital spokesman. A companion, Leon Mahan, 17, jumped out of the car and escaped injury. Officers theorized one of the boys lighted a firecracker and attempted to toss it out of the car, but it either fell or was blown back inside.

Three Saved In Plunge Of Diesels, Cars

EDENTON, N. C. (U. S. P. M.) — Two diesel engines and the front cars of a freight train crashed through a 5.1-mile railroad trestle spanning Albemarle Sound early today. One or two crewmen were presumed missing and three others were rescued.

The first survivor found clinging to the pilings of the bridge which spans the sound from Mackay to Edenton said there were four other crewmen riding the engines and front cars when the trestle pilings apparently collapsed.

But J. C. Poe, general superintendent of the Norfolk & Southern Railway, said in Raleigh his list showed only four crewmen for the front of the train.

Searchers found C. E. Jones, 41, of Pantego, N. C., within 20 minutes after the northbound freight pulling 70 cars smashed through the trestle at 12:45 a. m., two miles from the Edenton side. Edenton is about 75 miles south of Norfolk, Va.

Quick relaying of information by Jones led to a helicopter pickup in the inky darkness of John Lowery, a 51-year-old fireman from Norfolk, Va., at 4:15 a. m.

Burton Rankin, 58, another fireman from Norfolk, was washed up on the beach clinging to a piece of piling. None was seriously injured.

Red Puppets Praise Purge

VIENNA (U. S. P. M.) — The Communist bosses of Russia's East European satellites aped the Soviet Union today in staging "spontaneous demonstrations" to shout approval of Nikita Khrushchev's purge of his Stalinist Kremlin rivals.

Radio Budapest said meetings of workers in factories and offices throughout Hungary lauded the action against V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov, Lazar Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov. Similar rallies were held in Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria.

There still was no official reaction from Red China.

CHICAGO (U. S. P. M.) — Most grain futures except soybeans were slightly lower at the start on the Board of Trade today, due to favorable growing and harvesting weather.

Showers Due In This Area

BALTIMORE (U. S. P. M.) — Five-day forecast: Saturday mostly sunny with moderate temperatures. Fair and warmer Sunday. Scattered showers Monday through Wednesday, possibly beginning in Garrett County late Sunday, and turning cooler on Monday or Tuesday. Temperatures will average about two degrees below normal and precipitation will total about one-fourth to one-half inch.

Tornado Hits Small Town In Ohio Area

By The Associated Press
Refreshing cool air, fanned by gusty northwesterly winds, swept across wide areas in the mid-continent today, ending a spell of hot, humid weather.

The cooling breezes spread southeastward and appeared headed into the muggy air which covers the Eastern and Southern States.

The relief from the sticky weather was reported from the lower Great Lakes region and the Ohio River southward into extreme northern Texas and northern New Mexico. Temperatures were as much as 25 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier in some areas of the cool belt.

The strong winds which fanned the cool air also hit tornado velocity in some sections. Tornadoes were reported last night and yesterday in parts of Ohio, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Iowa. No deaths were reported. The most damaging twister struck Bryan, a town of 7,500 in northwest Ohio. Property damage was estimated at $500,000.

Yonkers Man Injured In Route 40 Accident

WHITE MARSH, Md. (U. S. P. M.) — Frank D. Cockren, 45, of Yonkers, N. Y., suffered a severe case of shock today when a truck rammed into the rear of his car which was stopped at a red light on U. S. 40.

Cockren was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore where he was put in an oxygen tent. He had fracture of the right leg and possible fractured ribs.

Blast Rocks Trenches Of Marine Unit

'Like Earthquake', Commander Reports From Test Sector

By JACK LEFLER
ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (U. S. P. M.) — A gigantic atomic explosion rocked entrenched Marines "like an earthquake" and set fire to brush and trees on distant mountains today.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the blast could have been the most powerful ever set off in the United States.

The mighty weapon shook the surrounding desert and blistered the breaking dawn with a blinding flash.

Exploded Beneath Balloon
The Marines were entrenched 5,700 yards from where the weapon was exploded beneath a balloon at an altitude of 1,500 feet.

In a telephone interview with the Associated Press, Brig. Gen. Harvey Tschirgi, commander of the Marine brigade, said:

"It was pretty rough. Lots of dust. It shook us like an earthquake. I felt like I was on roller skates for a few seconds."

The general was in a trench 50 feet closer to ground zero than those of the 1,000 men in his command.

Gen. Tschirgi said there were some cave-ins in the trenches but that they were not serious.

One Marine was buried by a cave-in. He is Pfc Theodore Sturges, of St. Louis, Mo. It took 15 minutes to get him out. He was not hurt.

As the dirt began to cascade down upon him in his trench, he grabbed a buddy and was able to keep his head above the earth.

The AEC said today's bomb could have had a peak power exceeding the largest device exploded here previously. It added that the power possibly could have ranged slightly below the former big shot.

Veteran observers said the fireball this morning was more spectacular than any that they had ever seen.

With the Marines in the trenches were 400 military observers, including an advance party of Canadians who will participate later in the series.

Approximately 136 aircraft participated in the test.

The AEC said the shock of the blast was felt at Inyokern and Bishop, Calif.

It said the radioactive fallout from the mushroom cloud would be "very light" off of the test site.

There was very little wind and the cloud was very slow in moving off the test area.

The Marines moved out of their bivouac at Camp Desert Rock at 8 p. m. and were at the trenches by midnight.

Three Miles From Site
Each of the six trenches was approximately 165 feet long, 5 feet deep and 30 to 36 inches wide. (Continued on Page 2; Col. 1)

Cooper License Suspended, Pays High Speed Fine

MOJAVE, Calif. (U. S. P. M.) — Actor Jackie Cooper, accused by highway patrolmen of speeding 140 miles per hour on a desert highway, has been fined $263 and had his license suspended for a month.

The penalty, imposed in a Mojave court, included a 30 day jail sentence. The sentence was suspended.

Cooper didn't appear in court. An attorney represented him. The actor's $12,000 sports car was halted at a road block near here yesterday when five highway patrolmen tried to save it from the cops.

Cooper's attorney said the actor had been in a desert area for three months.

Traffic Toll Takes Spurt, 149 Reported

Drownings Mount Above 1956 Total In Holiday Period

By The Associated Press

Traffic deaths across the nation mounted today at a pace which safety experts said would reach the estimated 535 for the four-day Independence Day holiday if it continues.

Hundreds of highway accidents last night resulted in what safety officials termed "an alarming spurt" of traffic deaths as motorists packed highways homeward bound after holiday outings.

The count of dead from traffic mishaps stood at 149 today. In addition 88 died from drowning and 26 were killed in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 231. There were no deaths from fireworks.

Deaths counted in the long holiday cover the 102-hour period from 6 p. m. (local time) Wednesday to midnight Sunday.

No deaths from fireworks were reported.

The number of drownings compared with 77 reported on the one-day Fourth of July holiday last year. Hot weather in most of the country lured millions to lakes and streams.

National Safety Council experts, who had predicted 535 traffic deaths for the holiday period, had been "encouraged" by the early reports as the toll appeared running a little below a nonholiday Thursday.

But with the heavy increase during the night, a council spokesman said if the pace continued, the council's estimate of 535 deaths "could be matched." The council urged drivers and enforcement agencies to work together to hold down the highway fatalities.

If the estimated 535 toll is reached, it would be a new record for the Independence Day holiday. The current record is 491 set in the Fourth of July holiday of 1950.

Coal Production Boost Estimated

WASHINGTON (U. S. P. M.) — The National Coal Assn. today estimated bituminous production for the week ended June 29 as about 7,910,000 tons against 7,193,000 tons for the same period in 1956.

The drop in output, which totaled 10,395,000 tons in the week ended June 22, was due to the miners' vacation period which started June 28, the NCA said.

Production Jan. 1 through June 29 was estimated at about 249,919,000 tons against 253,899,000 tons a year ago.

BILLY THE KID, Wyo. (U. S. P. M.) — Told of the tragedy, Presley said in Memphis, Tenn., "Nothing has hurt me as bad in my life. All of us really loved that girl. I don't believe I can stand to see the movie we made together now."

Presley said he would attend funeral services for Miss Tyler, who he said was "at the peak of success."

Miss Tyler formerly lived at Teaneck, N. J. She was the daughter of Julian S. Hess, Nutmeg Ridge, Conn. Since their marriage in Miami Beach, Fla., March 17, the young couple had been living in New York City.

Miss Tyler, who just completed the lead role opposite Elvis Presley in the movie "Jailhouse Rock," was killed instantly as was Donald D. Jones, 23, Hanna, Wyo., riding in the other car.

'Very Happy Event'

Girard Weds Nippon Girl In U. S. Chapel

CAMP WHITTINGTON, Japan (U. S. P. M.) — GI William S. Girard and the Japanese girl who offered to serve any prison term he might be given were married again today in a simple church ceremony.

"This is a very happy event," the smiling, 21-year-old soldier said after the Methodist rites in Camp Whittington's small white chapel. "I only wish my mother and brother were here."

His 27-year-old bride, Haru (Candy) Sueyama, said in English into a microphone: "Thank you very much."

Then the couple drove to the home of friends inside the camp for a wedding party. Girard is restricted to the base pending the outcome of an international wrangle over whether Japan or the Army should try him for killing a Japanese woman while on guard duty last January. He had to return to his barracks — without Candy — tonight.

The double ring ceremony, performed by an Army chaplain, followed the depositing of marriage documents with civil agencies which legally made them man and wife last Tuesday.

On the wedding eve an American congressman added fuel to the controversy over the Girard case, declaring that official Army reports indicated Girard had lured Mrs. Naka Sakai to her death on a U. S. firing range a few miles from here. She was struck in the back by an empty shell casing fired from a grenade launcher.

Girard, who was guarding equipment on the firing range, has said the shooting was accidental. But Rep. Burleson (D-Tex.) said in Washington the Army had testified Girard urged him to throw out shell casings to attract Mrs. Sakai, a scrap collector, and that Girard had told the woman to pick them up. Solon Urges 'Peace Plan'

WASHINGTON (U. S. P. M.) — A joint effort to develop resources and bring peace in the Middle East is proposed by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.).

He suggested that an international agency be created within the United Nations to undertake and manage development projects in the area, lend money to either public or private agencies, carry on research in soil fertility and make basic engineering surveys.

At the same time, he said, the United States should insist that Israel and the Arab states enter into "direct negotiations" to seek a settlement of their differences.

'Audrey' Warning Stirrs Storm

Long Asserts Weather Bureau Made Costly Error

CAMERON, La. (U. S. P. M.) — A verbal storm brewed today in devastated southwest Louisiana after Sen. Russell Long (D-La.) charged the Weather Bureau was 12 hours off on its prediction the night before Hurricane Audrey ripped inland.

This "led the people to stay here," he said.

Long made a three-hour tour of ravaged Cameron Parish (county), where an estimated 700 persons died in the hurricane and its 20-foot tidal waves.

"The Weather Bureau made a mistake in not telling the people to get out the previous afternoon," Long said. "I want to know when the Weather Bureau discovered it was more than 12 hours wrong on when the hurricane would reach our coast, and what was done about it."

"I am going to find the answers," Sheriff O. B. Carter told Long. "A 10 o'clock forecast the night before said there was no reason for alarm, that Hurricane Audrey would not reach our coast until the next afternoon.

"The next morning we would have evacuated 80 per cent of our women and children. We don't keep women and children here."

Carter said the Weather Bureau tried to whitewash the way it tracked the storm.

Hurricane forecaster Raymond Kraft of the Weather Bureau of New Orleans commented: "We stand on what we said at the time. Our advisories speak for themselves."

In its 10 a. m. advisory of June 26, the day before the tragic hurricane struck the mainland, the Weather Bureau predicted the center would move inland late the next day, then added:

"However, due to the size of the hurricane, gales will start along the Louisiana coast tonight. Tides are rising and will reach five to eight feet. All persons in low exposed places should move to higher ground."

Labor Probe Fizzles Out In Hot Spell

Senators Contend Cleanup Due To Be Resumed Soon

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Union labor's corruption cleanup seems to have fizzled in the summer's hot weather, although leaders promise to pick it up again in a month or so.

The avowed cleanup—keyed to disclosures of the Senate Rackets Committee—was kicked off with Teamsters boss Dave Beck's quick ouster three months ago as a federation officer. Little has happened since then.

The federation's Ethical Practices Committee launched probes of the Teamsters Union itself and the Bakery Workers Union, based on charges they were corruptly dominated. But although initial hearings were held, others planned later were canceled to await action within the individual unions.

Nor has the AFL-CIO yet followed up another Senate committee's charges that Maurice Hinchey, president of the big Carpenters Union and an AFL-CIO vice president, profited from right-of-way sales in Indiana on a federally financed highway project. Like Beck, Hinchey invoked the Fifth Amendment.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said the Hinchey situation will be considered by the AFL-CIO Executive Council, which meets in Chicago in mid-August.

Nowhere among the labor organizations does there appear a sense of urgency in cleaning out the situations revealed this spring and early summer.

Al Hayes, chairman of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee, has been vacationing in the Wisconsin woods. The committee's counsel Arthur Goldberg has been lecturing in Europe on American labor.

Meany's call on other Teamsters leaders some weeks ago to fire Beck "forthwith" as president of the nation's largest labor union has lain dormant. Beck has announced he will not seek another term as president and some union officials have expressed doubt any action can be taken to oust him in advance of the union's convention in late September.

Blast Rocks

The entrenchments were a little over three miles from the detonation site.

Pfc. Charles McGaugh, 18, Indianapolis, who heads a machine gun crew, expressed the opinion that no atomic weapon would ever replace the Marine infantry.

Pfc. Albert Ramsey, 17, Los Angeles, who has been in the Marine Corps 11 months, said he thought the maneuver was "mighty interesting."

Immediately after the blast, observer Al Freeman reported by telephone from the trenches that "the fireball seemed right on top of us. There were three seconds of light from the flash. Then we were enveloped in dust."

"The Marines' discipline was superb," he said.

McGaugh's comment was simply: "Fantastic."

The AEC said the concussion was not as strong on News 10, 13 miles from ground zero, as expected. However, it knocked out a major power line leading from the trenches.

Nasser Acts To Patch Up United Front

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt appears to be conducting a quiet diplomatic offensive to patch up frayed relations with Saudi Arabia and reestablish some semblance of a united Arab front.

President Nasser yesterday sent one of his most trusted lieutenants, the commander in chief of the armed forces, Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, flying off to Saudi Arabia. The visit came a week after Nasser sent King Saud a personal message and a few hours after the Arab League secretary general, Abdel Khaled Hassouna, returned from a three-day visit to Riyadh, Saudi's capital.

The Egyptian activity coincided with efforts by Nasser's closest ally, the Syrian government, to improve its standing with King Saud.

Relations of Egypt and Syria with Saudi Arabia took a tailspin at the time of Jordan's political crisis last April, when King Hussein ousted leftist, pro-Egyptian elements from his government.

Saud threw his support behind Hussein. Egyptian officials have made no secret of their displeasure with Saud, although they have not dared to attack him publicly.

Responsible Egyptian sources acknowledged privately they feel King Saud is playing the "American game of isolating Egypt from the rest of the Arab world."

But Nasser's regime is hesitating to attack the Saudi Arabian monarch publicly in its controlled press as it has Hussein, who openly broke away from the "liberalized" Arab front. Saud is the protector of Mecca, center of the Moslem Holy Land, holder of the richest purse strings in the Arab world and rules his country with an iron hand.

No reason was given for Gen. Amer's sudden, unannounced trip to Saudi Arabia.

Hassouna returned exuding confidence about the future of Arab unity. He said in a statement: "I have increased faith in the endeavor of King Saud to strengthen Arab unity... for the sake of our safety and for the protection of our common benefit."

Since 1913 the Woolworth Building (60 stories) has been one of New York City's most famed skyscrapers. Today there are only five skyscrapers higher on Manhattan.

Ship Sale To Carry Coal Abroad Facing Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Eisenhower administration opposed, the future of legislation authorizing the sale of liberty-type ships from the "mothball fleet" to haul coal to European markets appeared doubtful today.

"We have a problem and an answer," said Sen. Bible (D-Nev.), chairman of a Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Subcommittee studying the legislation.

Bible said further public hearings are not expected but the committee is awaiting additional information to be filed by Rear Adm. Thomas Burrows, director of the logistics plan division in the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

"We want more data on just how much of the mothball fleet we can break out without harming national defense," Bible told a newsman.

A bill sponsored by Sen. Clark (D-Pa) in the Senate and Rep. Flood (D-Pa) in the House would permit the sale of five liberty-type ships to Belgium to transport anthracite coal from the Port of Philadelphia to Belgium and the Netherlands.

Another measure, sponsored by Sen. Cotton (R-NH), would authorize the sale of 24 similar ships to Western Germany to carry American bismuthous coal to North Atlantic Treaty nations.

At a committee hearing this week, Burrows said the Navy, speaking for the Department of Defense, was opposed on principle to the sale of mothball fleet ships as long as a "deficit" exists in the American stockpile.

Eisenhower Plays Role Of Gentleman Farmer

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower combined the roles of chief executive and gentleman farmer today on his long holiday weekend at his farm home.

For the first time, reporters spotted him riding about the estate before dusk yesterday, inspecting his herd of Aberdeen Angus cattle and his flourishing feed crops.

Secret Service agents in two cars patrolled the strip of highway that borders the property as the President, clad in tan riding breeches, shiny boots, white shirt and bow tie, jogged at a rapid trot around the rim of the farm.

He was astride Sporty Miss, the fast chestnut mare presented to him last year by the American Quarterhorse Assn. Riding with him was Dick Flohr of the White House Secret Service detail, on another gift horse, Doodle-de-do.

Serious-faced, the President rode between rows of corn and across unfilled ground, pausing now and then to look at groups of cattle in strips of pasture land.

Eisenhower was in touch with the White House as usual, but seemed intent on having a quiet weekend with Mrs. Eisenhower and playing golf each morning.

The only guest was Dr. Howard McC. Snyder, the President's personal physician.

The President was expected to return to Washington Sunday evening or Monday morning.

Roads Meeting Set Next Month

A meeting of the state roads committee of the Legislative Council will be held in Cumberland sometime next month, according to Del. George R. Hughes Jr.

Del. Hughes, who as minority leader of the House has been active in sponsoring State Roads Commission legislation, said the committee members want to learn the sentiment of this county on possible changes in the 12-year road program.

They want to know, he explained, what the needs in this area will be in 1960, as compared with needs in 1952, when the program was set up.

No Summer Jobs Open At Ocean City Hotels

OCEAN CITY, Md., (AP)—Looking for a summer job? Better not come to this Eastern Shore resort town.

The managers of the large hotels fronting on the Atlantic Ocean say their staffs are filled up and applications for jobs are still rolling in every day.

Most of them said they hired people to fill staff vacancies on their own hook with little help from the local Department of Employment Security branch office. They said the office, which opened here June 28, arrived too late to be of much use.

The employment office was opened on a one-year trial basis. Hotel managers said the real test for the office will come in late August and September when experienced persons will be needed by the hotels to replace staff members leaving their jobs after the summer season.

Youth's Body Recovered From Delaware Bay

DOVER, Del., (AP)—The body of William Bohrer of Folsom, Pa., was recovered from Delaware Bay yesterday.

The 21-year-old youth had been missing since last Sunday, following the capsizing of a 20-foot speedboat. His father, Marvin Bohrer, 41, was rescued Monday morning after spending 31 hours in the water.

The boat capsized about midnight Saturday in wind-whipped waves. The elder Bohrer, who had a life belt, said he held onto his son until mid-afternoon Sunday before his strength failed and the youth slipped from his grasp.

Water Demand

HELENA, Mont., (AP)—If the predicted rate of population growth continues to 1975, the average municipal utility will be called upon to furnish about 50 per cent more water than at present, says the 1957 president of the American Water Works Assn. The official, Paul Weir of Atlanta, Ga., said in a talk that more than 300 million dollars would have to be spent annually across the nation if the increasing demands are to be met.

Forgotten Switch

LOGAN, W. Va., (AP)—Circuit Judge C. C. Chambers, expressing approval of a proposed legislative measure which would switch responsibility to parents for the actions of their children, said: "Everything in the home today is run by switches, except the children."

Coal is the chief industry of West Virginia. Chemicals have second place with 31 major plants, employing more than 25,000 workers.

Kimble Says ESB Ruling Would Ruin Bargaining

BALTIMORE—The head of Maryland's new Department of Employment Security said Wednesday the "essence of collective bargaining" would be destroyed under a 1956 ruling of the old Employment Security Board.

Director Robert B. Kimble urged the Legislative Council to push for a revision of the law to erase the ruling, under which jobless pay benefits are denied to workers idled "by a labor dispute."

Kimble said the law for 19 years had been interpreted to mean a man on strike could not collect unemployment compensation. But last year the ESB applied it to Bethlehem Steel Co. employees who were laid off because of a business slump which the firm said resulted from a strike threat, said Kimble.

He called this a "complete reversal" of past decisions by the ESB, which this year was replaced by the new Department of Employment Security. Kimble, a member of the old agency at the time of the ruling, dissented.

"If this interpretation is sustained," Kimble said, "no more in the future could labor organizations take a vote authorizing a strike because it immediately would become a work stoppage. It would destroy the essence and every principle of collective bargaining."

Kimble expressed support of a proposal by Sen. Dempsey (D., Balto. 3rd) to deny jobless pay only to workers actually on strike.

Paul M. Higinbotham, lawyer for two industries, and the Baltimore Assn. of Commerce opposed the suggestion.

Higinbotham suggested that a "walkout" by workers in key departments could cause a plant-wide shutdown and "we'd have to pay benefits to these men who are putting us out of business."

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union for ever.—Morris.

Job Well Done

THERE IS A broad feeling that the report of the Commission on Government Security, named by Congress to study the matter in all its aspects, has done a generally constructive job. This seems to be so even though certain parts of the report are coming in for criticism. One hopeful proposal is that the security program be separated into two parts. One would deal with questions of loyalty to the government and nation. The other would handle all other kinds of "non-suitability" in which loyalty is not basically involved but a security risk may arise from personality traits or habits. In these latter cases, security officers often decide that such characteristics may open an individual to pressures which could produce damaging or even disloyal acts.

YET, AS THE security program is now handled, all cases are lumped together so that an individual either dismissed or refused employment as a "security risk" is tarred with the disloyalty brush whether he deserves it or not. This is clearly unfair and should be corrected. The reporting commission advised, too, that a central security office be set up with full-time employees in sufficient number to hear loyalty cases throughout the country. It recommended a sound personnel training program, since the evidence suggests that present volunteer personnel is frequently inadequate. Again, the proposal appears to make sense, inasmuch as security matters today are marked by much delay and by contradictory decisions by different federal agencies weighing the same evidence.

THE COMMISSION also proposed that in loyalty matters specific charges ought to be insisted upon, and dealt with in closed hearings at which the accused could have counsel. It suggested, too, that he have the right to confront accusing witnesses unless they are "regularly established confidential informants" of the government and the confrontation would prejudice national security. Critics favor wider use of confidential materials and object as well to other features of the report advising broader, tighter security measures. But on balance the commission's labors appear to have been immensely fruitful.

Mystery Fleet

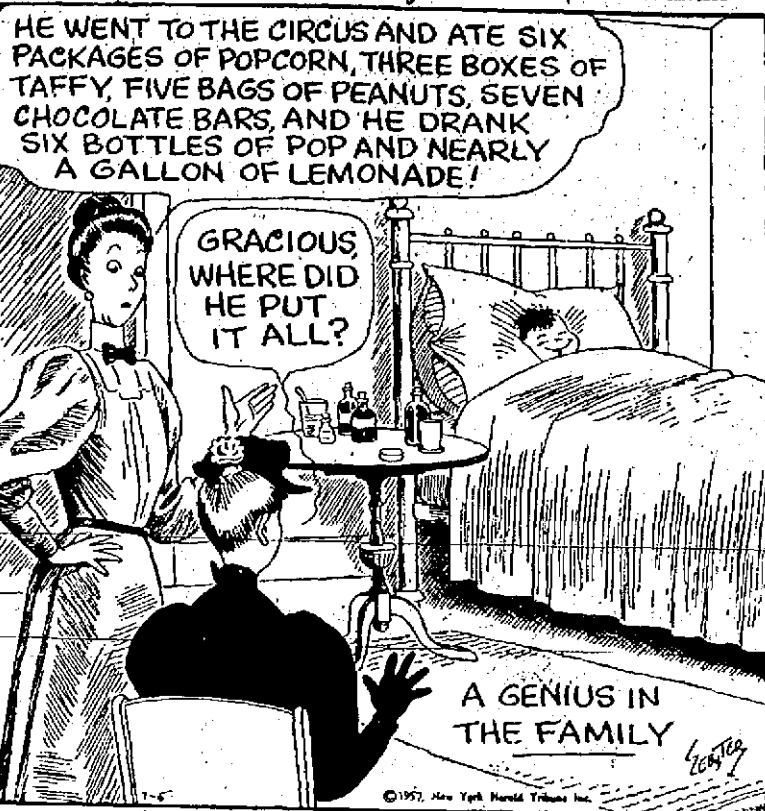

NOW A COUPLE of Russian warships have sailed through the Suez Canal into the Red Sea for the first time since 1917. The Kremlin indicates they may linger in those waters for some days. Earlier six Russian naval vessels sailed into the Mediterranean from the Black Sea. And recently the Soviet Union handed over three submarines to the Egyptians. These forays by Soviet warships hardly classify as vacation cruises. Clearly they follow the classic pattern of a "show of strength" in the Middle East. They may well be designed to discourage Israel from sending ships through the disputed Gulf of Aqaba, as may be the gift of submarines to Egypt. It should also not be overlooked that this flashing of naval power may be a move to help redress a balance in the Middle East which has been tipping back slightly in favor of Western nations. Only time can show whether it will have this effect or, indeed, whether it will discourage the Israeli.

Wandering Minds

JUST ABOUT THE toughest lesson to hammer home to the tourist traveling today's crowded highways is the high price of inattention. Driving is, of course, a business and always has been, even when the purpose of a trip is pleasure. Measure the size, weight and potential speed of a present day car, multiply it by 65 million, and you can see that our streets and highways in 1957 are no place for the man who can't keep his mind on his driving. University of Michigan traffic engineers in confidential interviews with drivers involved in accidents found that a substantial share frankly acknowledge they were upset one way or another at the time and not paying full attention. Their stories had a thousand variations but they all spelled worry or preoccupation with some personal or business problem—a divorce, an operation, falling profits, a fight with the wife, and so on. Industry, incidentally, has found that the same emotional causes tend to make factory workers "accident prone."

Reporter Urges Year Devoted To Peace

WASHINGTON—It is only a coincidence that the International Geophysical Year opened during the week in which we celebrated our independence. That, however, gives us a fixed period for some timely comparisons of the advance of science and the advance of the human race.

We can note, for example, that in the 181 years since Thomas Jefferson, who himself was a dabbler in science, wrote our Declaration of Independence, humankind has advanced so very much farther in delving into the mysteries of science and in harnessing them than toward realizing the ideal of equality and liberty.

Or, to put it another way, science has progressed so much further in making life easier, more pleasant and longer than human beings have in being able to live with each other—as individuals and as nations.

One aim of the equality and liberty for which Jefferson appealed in his declaration was to give human beings the opportunity to attain their full capabilities. And among such capabilities is the one to live happily and peacefully with one another.

THE SAME scientists who have so enriched life for us also have given us the power to deal death on a scale never dreamed by Jefferson or Benjamin Franklin, himself an outstanding natural scientist but also a political scientist and philosopher.

In the field of science we have come so much further in the span from the spark that jumped about Franklin's thumb as he flew his kite that night to the hydrogen bomb than we—or the rest of the world—have come in the field of human relations since that glorious and promising start we made in the Constitution.

Finally, in this century we saw the design for union which the Constitution provided become the inspiration for two successive designs for a union of the nations of the world—first, the League of Nations that grew out of World War I and, second, the United Nations that evolved from World War II.

BUT THE scientists always are ahead of politicians and statesmen. For about the time that modern statesmen gave us the United Nations, the scientists gave us the atomic bomb, and later the hydrogen bomb.

In the dozen years since the creation of the United Nations and the explosion of the first atomic bomb we have not been able to bring this terrible new scientific invention for mass slaughter under control.

Even now, as we inaugurate the International Geophysical year in celebration of the advance of science, we are trying once again in London to devise an international political agreement that will spare us from the advance of science. This is the aim of the negotiations for disarmament.

We got a hint of the importance of the International Geophysical Year beyond its purely scientific implication from President Eisenhower. In formally initiating it in our behalf, he said that its "most important result," as he saw it, "is the demonstration of the ability of nations to work together harmoniously for the common good."

"I hope," he added, "this can become common practice in other fields of human endeavor."

IT WON'T become common practice, however, unless people work at it as the scientists work at their manifold tasks. What the scientists are doing is more exciting, and we wish them well in pushing the frontiers of science still further in this next 18 months of exploring and measuring and probing—in the earth, in the sea, in the air, and in the vast heavens beyond the earth and on the realm of other planets.

But the overhanging problem, that of living together peacefully with one another, cannot be brought toward a solution until all of us, all over the world, begin to find excitement in the task of providing means and methods to apply science to our universal benefit and not to our mutual destruction.

Couldn't someone, our President perhaps, proclaim an international living-together year in which the rest of us could become scientists in human relations and try simultaneously to find ways to understand each other and live with each other?

Somehow that seems as important just now as finding how and why the ice floes do as they do in the polar seas.

Glancing Sideways

VICKSBURG, Miss. — Travel Notes: In a certain place in the hills in Tennessee, it is odd to come upon a huge sign reading: "Strange Subdivision: Lots For Sale." Most subdivisions, as they turn out, are pretty strange but few of them confess it.

Startling grocery sign in deep Alabama: "The Dear Dead Butcher Grocery." Gives you something to think about for miles and miles. Is the owner a butterfly collector with a sensitive heart or is he the widower of an attractive, flighty and departed wife?

A man said to me in New York a few weeks ago: "I'm old enough and have traveled our country often and far enough to feel sad that the general store no longer exists in the United States." Never was a man more wrong. The general store still exists, only its name has been changed. It's called a drugstore, now.

Modern drugstores sell books, blankets, toys, cooking utensils, garden seeds, some hardware, shirts, underwear, hosiery, beach wear, yard goods and candy. If that isn't a general store, what is?

I HAVE ONCE more to repeat that the public credo of the truck drivers of America being the safest, most considerate and polite drivers on the highways is baseless. Thus far—1,436 miles—the only three chances moments in traffic came when truck drivers asserted the pure weight of their vehicles, two of them doing exactly the same thing.

In Virginia, Tennessee and Alabama truck speed-limits are 10 miles below regular car speed-limits. Few truckmen observe this and two, several times, demonstrated a charming habit of speeding up to 65 and 70 to pass several passenger cars just before approaching long, steep hills.

This meant that on the grade, the trucks slowed down (as they always do) and thus held back a line of passenger cars deliberately. They could have slowed before getting to the hill and let the regular cars by, but I suppose that would not have been as much fun.

THE THIRD one, in Alabama, speeded up past 60, cut around us, and then swerved back into our right lane barely missing smashing into the left side of our car. In that case, some human satisfaction was achieved: a lurking patrol car jumped out of a side road and nailed the truckman with a ticket.

And one reason I love Alabama highway patrol officers is that this pair caught up with us a mile or so beyond, passed on the left, and the one not driving made the circle gesture with thumb and forefinger and grinned as they sped on.

I'd rather not hear any more about the noble hearts and gentle ways of truckmen.

I'M NOT GOING to name any names or raise any flags for any particular associated group of modern motels, but I want to say that in the smaller cities and towns I don't see how motels exist any more.

Just outside each of hundreds of places across our nation are cool, comfortable, clean, immaculately operated motels with swimming pools, restaurants, full service, free car parking, of course, and a dozen small services all calculated to attract and bring back the motoring public.

You can make reservations ahead, come in during the late afternoon, register and drive to your suite, parking exactly in front of it, and no garage fees or bellboy tipping. If you want a boy to unload for you, there is one at hand, but you ask for this service and, of course, then tip. Most people unload their own cars.

THE BEDS ARE large and comfortable, the baths ample in hot water, towels and soap, the pools are fresh and gratis, the food in the cool restaurants wide in choice and high in quality—and the price is right.

I don't know anything about such things, but I just don't see how a hotel can compete. Larger cities and urban centers are, of course, something else and do flourish. They can and do flourish. A modern, elegant, up-to-the-minute motel is a joy all by itself. One group is especially notable, but I won't and should not name it. It is the fastest growing group in the country.

Emergency? Snake Bite

WASHINGTON — The little man from the State Department declassified with his trusty fountain pen a sheaf of confidential documents, showing purchases from the Secretary of State's secret fund to meet international emergencies, and oops! Boozie. There undoubtedly had been an emergency. The boys (unidentified) got thirsty. So they sent out last November to Gold Liquors, Inc., a few blocks down the street from the State Department, for $223.49 worth of merchandise.

Nature of this goods in documents produced by the Comptroller General for the Government Operations Subcommittee was not specified but I think we can presume safely that it wasn't potato chips, or salted peanuts, either. Those dry-throated diplomats, in my own considered opinion, invested the confidential funds in about four cases of Scotch.

WHETHER this purchase solved an international emergency (and it may well have done just that) is something that Representative Porter Hardy Jr. and Company will look into later. They hadn't really intended to mention the State Department's dealings with the neighborhood liquor store.

Their primary interest was in the $330,000 the department has spent (from the emergency funds) since 1951 for a continuing survey of what plain, ordinary people think about international affairs.

The money went to the National Opinion Research Center of the University of Chicago to ask a cross-section of the population what it thought about the State Department's operations.

Hardy said this was illegal. Comptroller General Joseph Campbell agreed, but insisted he couldn't get the money back. Hardy said maybe he could sue Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Campbell doubted that but reported the department had promised to spend no more secret funds on public surveys.

BY NOW THE lawgivers were thumbing through the vouchers submitted by the State Department to the Comptroller. "They contain some very interesting items," commented Hardy. Suddenly Representative Henry Reuss started reading aloud: "Vouchers approved January, 1957, certificate of payment of $223.49 to Gold Liquors, 23th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, for purchase made in November, 1956."

"Did you attempt to discover whether this was for solution of an emergency in the consular and diplomatic service?" demanded Reuss.

"I did not," said Comptroller Campbell, adding that the purchase was certified under authorization of the Secretary of State and who was the Coming back. And by mid-July USA will know in detail where it's still in business, how much and who will be tending the store.

troller to question Secretary Dulles?

HARDY brushed this high-test discussion and returned to the questionnaires of the university. He said every one of these included the question: "Do you approve or disapprove of the way John Foster Dulles is doing his job?"

"And in one of these surveys, 58 percent of the people queried approved of the way Dulles was doing his job, while only 52 percent knew what his job was," said Hardy. "I have a 'little trouble understanding that.'"

The Congressman claimed that Dulles could buy all the public opinion surveys he felt he needed but had no right to use the secret, emergency funds to pay the bill. Their attitude toward liquor was similar.

CONGRESS regularly votes a representative allowance to the State Department for entertaining bigwigs of other nations. This is supposed to buy the liquor and those lawgivers insist it should have included whatever it was the Department of State bought from Gold Liquors, Inc.

Suggestion

IF OUR FORMER Presidents are authorities on any one subject, it should be the presidency. Each must have given some thought to what would happen to the nation if he had a stroke or other disabling illness.

Former President Truman, who has been reflecting on this question, now gives his recommendations. They contain some novel features.

If the President's physical or mental state became alarming, a body of seven would be called in to consider the matter. This would be composed of the Vice President, the president pro tem of the Senate, the speaker of the House, and the majority and minority leaders of both houses of Congress.

If this body could not agree because of party affiliations or for any other reason, the chief justice of the Supreme Court, a non-political figure, would cast the deciding vote.

If this body, after calling in eminent doctors, decided that the President was unfit to serve, they would report to Congress. The legislators could then, by a two-thirds vote, put the Vice President in his place.

This removal, according to Truman's plan, would be permanent, even if the President shows signs of recovery.

The first duty of the new chief executive would be to summon the electoral college to choose a new Vice President. This would assure that the new man in line for the presidency would be of the same political party.

There is much to be said for these ideas, though many citizens will find unpalatable the thought of giving such a body the power to permanently remove the President. At any rate, the Truman plan should be seriously considered.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—The accent in America is on youth, and most of us feel that as a nation we treat our elders rather shamefully.

We neglect them. We take them for granted. We assume—often wrongly—that a retired man is an economic burden on the country's economy.

Some of the contractors in today's depressed housing market, however, are taking another look at the picture—and awaking to the fact that one of the big answers to their problem is to build more homes for the old folks.

ONE OF THE NEW pioneers in the field is N. R. "Tubby" Field, a prominent attorney who left his native Owensboro, Ky., and made a fortune as a builder in Florida and Denver, Colo.

"Tubby," a light-eyed, gray-haired man with a booming voice, erected nearly 100,000,000 in housing during the postwar building boom. Like most builders, he concentrated on houses for young growing families. Who cared about the old folks?

But when the market began to tighten, Field checked prospective customers, architects and engineers . . . came up with this idea: One reason for the home-building recession is that few builders paid enough attention to the needs of the elderly.

"There are 15 million people in the United States 65 or over," said Field, whose own parents are over seventy. "In 20 years there will be 21 million."

But elderly persons, having sold their former homes, want a new home more suited to their years.

FIELD, AFTER checking extensive surveys of the situation by Florida state agencies, has incorporated these special features in a new 2,000-acre, 8,000-home development he is building at Bonlawn Beach, a few miles from Palm Beach. The homes, plus a swimming pool, start at $13,500.

How do these "retirement homes" differ from ordinary housing?

A few examples:

"Trouble bells" in bedroom and living-room to summon aid from neighbors . . . bathtubs with built-in seats and grab-bars . . . no stairs or thresholds to fall down or trip over . . . glass window walls to admit more light to help failing vision . . . electric outlets at waist level to avoid bending . . . luminous light switches . . . wall refrigerators and ovens at chest level also to avoid bending . . . pantries with eye level shelves . . . garbage disposal units to eliminate unnecessary lifting and extra steps . . . extra wide doors throughout the house to permit passage of wheelchairs . . . swimming pools with grab rails . . . a gently sloping ramp entrance . . . and a nonslip floor.

"Practically every convenience we have conceived of that older people desire," Field said, "are wanted by young people, too."

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — Washington bureaucracy just can't understand it because it is too desperately radical, but a parent finally has been put at the head of the Children's Bureau. After a long succession of spinsters, the post has been given to a mother. Things like that simply aren't done in Washington. We're afraid that, now the ice has been broken, they may appoint a tuna to the Inter-American Tuna Commission.

The idea of entrusting the welfare of children to a woman who has had children is still causing us misgivings, but up to this writing only one thing of an untoward nature has occurred. The new foster mother of the nation's kiddies couldn't keep an engagement to pose for a millinery display because her hat had been eaten.

The headpieceless head of the Children's Bureau is Mrs. Katherine Brownell Oettinger, mother of two sons, and former dean of the School of Social Service Work in Boston.

When she took over the new post she immediately found herself faced with three problems: How to supply the increasing demand for the bureau's perennial best seller "Infant Care"; how to make people hereabouts pronounce her last name "Etinger," with a hard "G"; how to prove that, despite her middle name, she is no relation of the attorney general.

SHE CONFIDES she seems to be making headway with all but the No. 2 problem; callers are still making life hard for the switchboard operators at the great, sprawling Department of Health, Education and Welfare, of which the Children's Bureau is a worthy adjunct, by asking for Mrs. "Oatlinje."

Mrs. Oettinger is a pretty woman, who goes in for pretty hats. She presents such a charming appearance, all hailed up, that a fashion magazine arranged for her to pose in her newest skimmer.

She got all slicked up in her Sunday best, then put down her new hat while she gave a few final pats to her coiffeur. When she reached down for the hat again it was gone. The mystery took minutes to solve. The hat was covered with imitation fruit. Her cocker spaniel loves fruit. It ate the hat.

THERE IS at least one individual in Washington who does not think the Voice of America goes in for wild extravagance. His name is William Rainey, and curiously enough, he works for the Voice.

His division ran a contest recently. Listeners in foreign lands were invited to submit essays of 100 words or less on, "Why I would like to visit the United States." The winner was Sven Lindh, 22-year-old Stockholm schoolteacher.

When the Voice submitted his expense account later he was informed that The Voice does not tolerate tipping in excess of 10 per cent. A trained economist on the staff of director Arthur Larson proved to him, with charts, graphs, and rows of blackboard figuring, 10 per cent of $7 is only 70 cents.

But that wasn't all. It was pointed out to him that he would have to buy lunch for himself, anyway, whether he had a foreign contest winner in town or not, and that the mean average price of a lunch for a lesser bureaucrat is $1.25.

This was deducted from his expense account too. For his attempt to further international understanding he was left in the hole, which made him wonder if he would ever understand foreign understanding.

Economy Cut To Force New Start For USIA

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — An exercise to save the government a million and a half dollars a month is being practiced by the U. S. Information Agency with considerable anguish and pain.

Congress cut the agency's funds from the 113 million it had in fiscal 1957 to 95 million for 1958. This is 16 per cent. Most agencies caught in this year's congressional economy wringer have averaged only a 5 per cent squeeze.

President Eisenhower had asked for 144 million dollars for USIA in the fiscal year beginning July 1, wanting to expand its operations. At one point, Congress cut it to 89 million, which would have made a real dent in its operations.

USIA Director Arthur Larson still doesn't know exactly what he'll have left. But a few generalizations are possible.

About 800 employees will be dropped. But the 2,000 in the U. S. and the 8,000 overseas will be cut. Biggest cuts will be in friendly countries, particularly Europe.

ACTIVITIES in the Middle East and Africa may be increased as these are the new critical areas. Far East programs will probably remain at present levels, maybe down a little.

Voice of America broadcasts beamed at Iron Curtain countries will be continued full force and given preference.

A lot of libraries and information centers will have to go. A lot fewer U. S. books will be purchased and distributed.

About the only program that will be stepped up will be foreign language training, to make USIA personnel more effective in areas to which they are assigned.

There will be a lot less transferring of information specialists from one country to another and a lot less moving around of their families, to save travel costs.

To the extent that these cuts will make USIA run a tighter leaner shop, with less waste, there is admission now that the cuts were a healthful thing. But there is no denying, either, that the volume of U. S. information services, to counter Communist propaganda, will be greatly reduced in effectiveness.

ASSIGNMENT to determine what not to do any more was given to Deputy Director Abbott Washburn. He called in his 12 department heads. They labored for 13 days and far into 13 nights in a conference room where telephones and call-outs were banned. It developed into one of the hottest sweat-box sessions in bureaucratic history. Examples:

Bob Button, head of broadcasting, held it would be foolish to cut down on television, the newest and fastest growing information medium and one of the most effective.

The weekly "Report From America" sent out on film to over 100 TV stations in 34 countries, has been highly successful. But it's going to be curtailed.

Turner Shelton fought for his moving picture program, whose documentaries have reached millions of people all over the world. But it's going to get the ax, too.

LELAND BRIGGS wanted to save his press service and publications. But many of the printed media will be wiped out.

Dr. James L. Meader protested the closing of many libraries and information centers, where hundreds and thousands are waiting for admission to classes to learn English. Out they go.

What the economists did was work on the assumption they didn't have any program at all. What would they have to create that would be absolutely essential, starting from scratch?

The program they finally came up with then had to be submitted to State Department for approval, to tie in with diplomatic efforts. State wants to keep strong informational activities in countries where there were critical or strained relations.

Revised programs for each country were then sent to American ambassadors in the field for their approval. This took more time. But replies are now com-

Elderly Woman Starts Appalachian Trail Hike

HAGERSTOWN, Md. — Mrs. Emma Gatewood, 69-year-old hiking great-grandmother from Gallipolis, Ohio, is out to conquer the Appalachian Trail again.

She did it once before in 1935, walking the 2,050 miles from Mt. Oglethorpe, Ga., to Mt. Katahdin, Maine in 146 days. She wore out seven pairs of shoes and lost 30 pounds while averaging about 14 miles a day.

When Mrs. Gatewood finished the hike in September, 1935 to become the first woman to walk the entire trail, she said she had all the walking she wanted "for a long time."

Now, less than 22 months later, she's retracing her steps. She spent last night at Washington Monument State Park, about 10 miles south of this Western Maryland city.

Mrs. Gatewood left Mt. Oglethorpe on April 27. After 69 days she has covered almost 1,000 miles and is now wearing out her third pair of shoes. She said she is not trying to break her previous record but is merely making the trip again because she enjoyed the last one so much.

NOW YOU SEE THEM, NOW YOU DON'T — Take a good look at these Soviet bigwigs, some of them are out of today's lineup. From left on reviewing stand during Moscow's Soviet Agricultural Fair early last month are Nikita Khrushchev, at microphone; Kliment Voroshilov, Premier Nikolai Bulganin; Lazar

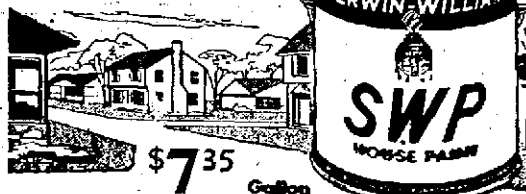

Kaganovich, Georgi Malenkov, Vyacheslav Molotov, M. Saburov, Apastov Mikoyan and an unidentified member of the group. Kaganovich, Malenkov, Molotov and Saburov have been dropped from top posts in the Soviet hierarchy.

Langford Warns Against False Security In U. S.

HYATTSVILLE, Md., (AP)—Rep. Langford (D-Md.) said last night Americans should recognize the fact that the United States cannot "go it alone" in foreign relations.

"To seek refuge in the belief that we can find security as an island fortress in this age of 11-bombs and guided missiles is folly of the worst sort," Langford told a crowd attending a Fourth of July celebration in Magruder Park here.

The Fifth District congressman called for a strong national defense "lest our desire for peace fails and we are put to the use of arms for our security."

Langford cautioned against the so-called "meat ax approach" to cutting expenditures. He said federal spending should be reduced "only where it can be achieved without weakening our defenses or impairing essential public services vital to the well-being of our people."

Holdup Artist Takes Car, But Bride's Tears Save $25

McCONNELLSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A bride of a few hours softened the heart of a holdup man yesterday.

The bride's tears saved her $25 but as sorry as he felt for the bride, the holdup artist left the girl and her groom stranded on a lonely mountain road. State Police told the story this way:

William and Ellen Marie Stirling of Meadville, Pa., were married Wednesday in Dankirk, N. Y. The headed for Washington on their honeymoon.

Early today they stopped along Route 126 five miles south of Breezewood, Pa., to take a nap. They were awakened by a swarthy looking man who rapped on the window, pointed a revolver at them and ordered them to open the car door.

The bandit climbed into the back seat, forcing Mrs. Stirling to sit beside him, and ordered her husband to drive to an isolated point where the worried groom was ordered to halt the car.

The holdup man demanded the couple's money and Mrs. Stirling handed him $75, saying that's all she had. And when she began to cry he returned $25 to her. He didn't know she had secreted a large amount of money elsewhere.

The bandit drove off and the couple hitchhiked here to notify police.

Fans Looking Forward To "The Big Moment"

By JACK O'BRIAN
NEW YORK (INS)—Now that it's summertime and the living is easy, except for TV viewers, it is a novelty as well as a probable pleasure to look forward to a program starting in this season of shrugs which shows distinct signs of being worth watching.
Tonight on NBC-TV will arrive the first of a 13-week series, "The Big Moment."

River Flow Shows Drop

Baseball fans generally concede it is a greatest single moment in sports. Even a flycatcher's paragon would admit it is one of the most exciting climaxes invented for real or fictional life.
It was a great moment on TV, but six years ago most folks did not have TV sets, and a great many others were not home from work in time for the amazing Thomson feat.
It stands to reason, then, that "The Big Moment" certainly will start off with a bang-up "Big Moment" but won't stop there.
For track fans, the "Big Moment" will be Roger Bannister's victory over John Landy in "The Mile of the Century" during the British Empire Games at Vancouver, Canada, August 7, 1954, when both Bannister and Landy broke the four-minute mile speed barrier, only Bannister broke his into little pieces.
For racing fans, from Clem McCarthy on down, the "Big Moment" will be Seabiscuit's triumph over War Admiral Nov. 1, 1938 at Pimlico.
Tennis, anyone? That big moment will be the Pancho Gonzalez defeat of Ted Schroeder for the National Singles title at Forest Hills, September 5, 1949, a remarkable comeback.
For golfing fans it will be Lev Worsham's "impossible" approach shot into the final hole.

South End Fire Damages Garage

The South End Fire Company was called Wednesday morning to extinguish a fire in a garage in the rear of the 100-block of Offutt Street.
The firemen had trouble in locating the cause of the blaze, which was attributed to spontaneous combustion on material stored in the garage.
A number of crates, burlap bags and a tent owned by David Tharp were destroyed, firemen report.

A recent study shows the United States lacks 160,000 classrooms for public school students.

Country Music Performers Don't Need Composers For Songs

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (INS)—The definition of a hillbilly vocalist used to be somebody who sings through his nose by ear for money. But today things are different.
There are so many country music compositions regularly entrenched in the national "Top Ten" lists of radio, jukeboxes and home recordings. From country music beginnings so many people have soared to great heights — Elvis Presley, Pat Boone, Tommy Sands, Rusty Draper, Tennessee Ernie, Eddy Arnold, Jimmy Dean. The phenomenon of country music is of special interest to the CBS Radio network because tonight it begins playing host to the "Country Music Show."
It sent a sleuth down to the Blue Ridge country of Virginia to try to learn just what country music is. He found that:
Country music is commercially as durable as steel because it draws its vitality directly from the farmer, factory hand and small merchant.
The hillbilly performer doesn't depend on a professional songwriter for his material. He composes his own, even though he can't read or write a note of music. Of the 14 artists traveling hither and yon with the show, only one has not composed any songs and only one other has composed as few as 10. The rest have created anywhere from fiddler Dale Potter's 25 to singing star Carl Smith's 300. Here's how a country artist composes:
He thinks through the words first, then picks out the music on his guitar or fiddle, and finally performs it for his tape recorder or on a disk. He jots down the words on paper to help him remember the tune.
The creators of country songs will go on composing them in their present style simply because their audiences demand them.

Agricultural Briefs

The fruit is being sold under the Public Law 480, which provides for sales of U. S. commodities to foreign countries for payment in native currency.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The Agriculture Department's plan June 30 were $6,893,721,587 compared with $6,585,785,283 three months earlier and $6,573,504,874 a year earlier.

Competition Changes Car Market Methods

By DAVID J. WILLKIE
AP Automotive Editor
DETROIT—(INS)—"Why don't you be frank and admit that this year General Motors doesn't have it?" The question is from a letter written by a Midwestern reader and points up a situation unique in auto industry history. General Motors has lost nearly 7 per cent of its market since last year, while Ford and Chrysler, its major competitors, were picking up the business.

There isn't much basically wrong, of course, with a firm that can absorb nearly 45 per cent of the market without major style changes, while its competitors have gone all out on new designs. And General Motors' net earnings of 261 million dollars in the first quarter this year isn't down much from the 263 million in the similar period of 1956.

But the market pattern of the car industry is changing. That's why the most ruthless competition in their history lies ahead of the auto makers.

A lot of new styling and engineering will go into the 1958 lines. Chevrolet and Pontiac are to be entirely new; Buick and Oldsmobile are to get major style changes.

General Motors spokesmen do not discuss the company's drop in the market, nor will they comment on reports that GM's styling experts were called on the carpet when sales figures began to show Ford running ahead of Chevrolet and Plymouth leading Buick for the first time in years.

The canted rear fenders of the Ford line and the fin-tail sweep of the Chrysler caught the public fancy. Why didn't General Motors have styling to compete? That reportedly is the question put to the designers by top brass.

But oddly enough, the forthcoming Chevrolet and Pontiac will not emphasize canted or soaring rear fenders. Rather, if the grapevine is correct, they will have lower silhouettes and the illusion of increased over-all length, wider but shallower radiator grilles, dual headlamps set horizontally and an entirely new treatment of the rear-end tail light-signal light-backup light assembly.

Gossip also has it that both Chevrolet and Pontiac will drop over-all height a couple of inches. Chevrolet's 1957 models are 61½ inches high, Pontiac's are 59. Pontiac probably will offer fuel injection as an optional installation. Chevrolet announced it with this year's models.

Disappearing from the Buick and Oldsmobile lines will be the three-piece rear windows.

GM's changes are not the result of the current decline in sales. The decision to bring out wholly new Chevrolet and Pontiac cars was made at least two years ago. It takes nearly that long to bring a car from the drafting board to the assembly line. In that respect, perhaps, GM's timing was unfortunate.

Ford and Chrysler, together, together, spent more than half a billion dollars getting their 1957 models to the assembly lines. To maintain their campaigns against General Motors they must make some additional styling and engineering advances not usually undertaken the first year after a completely new line has been introduced.

It goes without saying Ford will retain the canted fenders and Chrysler the soaring fins and dart styling. What they may do to further enhance the eye-appeal of their models is a carefully guarded secret. Gossip in this connection indicates some substantial advances are planned in both front and rear lighting installations. Ford, reportedly will restyle its hood and rear deck lid. Horizontally placed dual headlamps also will be offered as optional items.

As part of the Ford strategy, aimed at an all-out fight against GM's domination of the car market, it has limited introduction of its new Edsel line to compete in the 1958 model year with GM's medium price lines. It also is making changes in its Thunderbird styling. Wheelbase will be increased to 113 inches from this year's 108, and a rear seat will be added.

Ford has reported a quarter of a billion dollars went into development of the Edsel before a single car was put together. The Edsel, to be presented in four series called the Pacer, Ranger, Corsair and Citation, was designed to fill gaps in Ford's medium price group—at the top and bottom of the Mercury line.

Styling of the Edsel line will be distinctive. For example, its oval-shaped radiator grille will be vertical in the center of the front end instead of horizontal. It will have hooded dual headlamps and concave rear fenders almost flush with the rear deck—and no fins.

A flatter roof will present a lower silhouette. There will be more glass area. If it is like anything so far presented, the Edsel top structure resembles the Continental and the Mercury combined.

This business of trying to out-guess the competition and still please the public is a game that's played for big stakes. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have 95 per cent of the market. But the most recently tabulated retail sales figures show General Motors' share down from 52.20 per cent a year ago to 45.59 now. Ford meanwhile has moved from 26.53 to 30.12; Chrysler from 15.85 to 18.96.

The current drive for sales, and the one in prospect when the 1958 lines are introduced some months from now won't make any easier the battle for survival by Studebaker-Packard and American Motors.

American (Union, Nash and Rambler) accounted for 1.98 per cent of the sales last year, but this year is down to 1.78. Studebaker-Packard has slumped even farther, from 2.13 per cent to 1.14. The remainder of the market went to imported cars, chiefly the Volkswagen, Renault and Metropolitan.

The prospects for the smaller companies have been somewhat improved by a sharp slashing of overhead but their percentages of market penetration have been disappointing. Their combined total of 2.92 per cent is down 1.19 per cent from their share of the comparable 1956 period. And it is only a little more than percentage absorbed by foreign built cars.

Foreign car makers shipped 107,000 cars into the American market in 1956. Their volume so far this year indicates they probably achieve their goal of doubling that total.

All the car makers are giving serious consideration to means of meeting the increasing inroads of foreign-built cars, especially the lower price makes. Although manufacturing costs are greater in their domestic plants, some are considering the possibility of building vehicles to compete with the European-built cars.

Wall Street Hears...

NEW YORK—(INS)—Wall Street Hears: Earnings of fillrol—which has been getting quite a market play recently—are expected to be a share this year, same as in 1956.

Realtax Drug is expected to repeat this year, the $1.35 net of last year... Lone Star Cement earnings are estimated at $2.65 for 1957 vs. $2.23 last year and $2.04 in 1955.

Timken Roller Bearing will boost bearing prices Oct. 1 to offset wage and material increases. Pittsburgh & West Virginia Ry. income should rise to $4 a share or better this year if the eastern roads get anything near the 15 per cent boost in freight rates they are asking.

Sperry Rand's sales, which increased sharply to $671 million in the year ended last March 31, should add another $50 million this year.

Eastern Airlines dividends are expected to continue at the annual rate of $1 plus 2 per cent in stock.

Gillette's lower first-half earnings, estimated at less than $1.50 a share vs. $1.75 a year ago, reflect temporary conditions expected to be reversed during the second half, says Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane.

Farm-Game
Program Set

ROMNEY—The tenth year of the farm-game program sponsored by the Game Division of the West Virginia Conservation Commission began this week.
The program is one in which the Game Division assists landowners in developing habitat for game by supplying materials and plans to produce all-year food and cover for wildlife.

In District 2, which covers the Eastern Panhandle counties, Hampshire leads the number of cooperators with 14; Berkeley 7; Grant 4; Hardy 4; Jefferson 3; Mineral 68; Morgan and Pendleton 30.

With the completion of the past planting season, 158 deliveries of plants and materials were made to cooperators in District 2. A total of 70,000 plants, 3,270 pounds of seed and 17 tons of fertilizer was delivered to cooperators in the Eastern Panhandle.

The plan usually calls for mixed pine trees planted in small hills for cover, food from shrubs, annual food patches of regume seedlings and travel lanes of plantings of multiflora rose, or similar plants.

Blood Donated
At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—A total of 121 pints of blood were given here Tuesday by local residents during the visit of the Red Cross regional bloodmobile unit of Johnston. The quota was 130.

Mrs. William J. Jenkins, chairman of blood recruitment, announced last night that two residents joined the Two-Gallon Club while five others became members of the Gallon Club.

The community's quota was missed by nine pints during yesterday's visit. Although 201 residents indicated they would give blood, only 105 of them appeared. However, several local residents donated blood in Cumberland on Monday.

Mrs. Jenkins said there were 35 walk-ins and 14 first time donors. A total of 14 persons each gave a pint of blood as a "replacement" for friends or relatives who had received blood.

George Geary, of Chestnut Street, and Curtis Green, Hill Street, qualified for the Two-Gallon Club while Earl Brian, 33 American Avenue; William Walsh, Broadway; Robert Wierbrecht, Mt. Pleasant Street; Kenneth Crowe, Hill Street and O. A. Walters, Water Street, joined the One-Gallon Club.

Physicians on duty were Martin M. Rothstein, Frank T. Harat, John B. Davis, John C. Doyers and H. C. Diehl. The next visit of the unit to the American Legion home here will be on October 8 from noon until 6 p. m.

Police Issue 100 Bike Tags At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Over 100 boys and girls reported to the police station this morning to register their bicycles and secure new license tags. Officers were not due to open up for business until 9 a. m. but a dozen or more youngsters were lined up shortly after 8, awaiting the opening of the office.

Chief of Police Lloyd Truly and Assistant Chief Ronald Kreider began checking serial numbers on the bicycles promptly at 9, and will continue until 5 this afternoon.

Officer Donald M. Miller, using a projector owned by the East End Playground Association, exhibited a one reel movie to the youngsters in the firemen's hall at 10:30 a. m. The movie concerned the safe way to operate a bicycle and the results of disobeying traffic laws.

Chief Truly explained to the youngsters how important it is for children riding bicycles about the streets of the city to observe traffic laws. By riding bikes against traffic on one way streets, on pavements or by weaving in and out of traffic, bicycle riders not only endanger their own lives but those of motorists and pedestrians who may swerve to avoid hitting them and crash into another car or pedestrian.

Keyser Council Seeking Sources For New Revenue

KEYSER — The new city administration under recently elected Mayor Richard E. Romig started off in earnest to find new sources of revenue at the first regular meeting of the fiscal year Tuesday.

City Attorney Charles W. Smith was instructed to draw up an ordinance for a "license and privilege tax," which would levy fees on practically everyone doing business in Keyser.

Not only would stores and other businesses be taxed but also included will be professional men such as doctors and attorneys, insurance agents, trucks delivering such items as bread and beer, and itinerant magazine salesmen.

The schedule of fees has not definitely been determined by the Mayor and Council, but the consensus seemed to be a minimum of $10 with stores and other business places being assessed an additional $2 for each employee.

The action was taken, Mayor Romig said, because Keyser has long operated in a precarious financial situation. Money is needed for many civic improvements, he said, adding that he and the council felt the proposed new tax would be one method of raising new revenue.

In an unusually active meeting the Mayor and Council also: Reappointed all members to the Keyser Recreation Board for another term.

Ordered the sale of the old service building on the North End Playground.

Heard Robert Dorsey, chief of the Keyser Fire Department, request that the present extra tax levy be extended for another three years and the funds thus raised be used to purchase a new fire truck. The present levy, which currently is earmarked for street improvements does not expire until June 30, 1959.

Authorized the extension of West Piedmont Street by one block from the West End Garage, thus giving access to several potentially desirable building lots.

Petitioners Hit Change In Luke Charter

LUKE — Eighty-four names were signed to a petition presented to the Mayor and Commissioners of Luke, at their regular meeting, protesting the adoption of a proposed amendment to the town charter.

The amendment would give the council authority to vacate or close any existing public way, street, alley or part thereof. The petition stated that the signers feel that the charter in its present form is adequate to meet all needs.

Under a new law adopted by the Maryland Legislature, the town must publish its intention of changing the charter. If 20 per cent of the qualified voters of the town object to the change, then the proposal must be submitted to the voters for acceptance or rejection.

Seventy odd voters constitute 20 per cent of the total number of voters. The petition was studied carefully by the Mayor and Commissioners at this week's meeting and ten names were marked off the list as not being registered voters of the town.

The officials will confer with their attorney, Earl Manges, Cumberland, at a meeting tonight at 7:30 regarding further action on the proposal. Under the new law, any objections to the proposed change in the charter must be made to the council on or before July 12.

Father Served Warrant For Child Murder

Clarence Simms Jr. Of Keyser Released From Hospital Here

A murder warrant was served Wednesday on Clarence Simms Jr., 22, of Newton Street, Keyser, who police said fatally stabbed his five-week-old daughter last Friday night at their home. Simms, who was a patient in Memorial Hospital here since the night of the stabbing, was released Wednesday and taken before Chief Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court where he waived extradition to West Virginia.

Simms was taken handcuffed from the County Jail here to Mineral County Jail in Keyser by West Virginia State Trooper R. B. Noeche and Deputy Sheriff Martin Biggs.

No date has been set for a hearing and for the time being Simms will be lodged in the jail at Keyser.

After stabbing the child following a "family quarrel," Simms stabbed himself and also took a portion of rat poison and disinfectant, police reported.

Both he and the child were brought to the local hospital. The little girl underwent surgery, but died early the next morning.

Simms, police said, used an icepick in the dual stabbing. It was found on the dresser in an upstairs bedroom where authorities found Simms lying across a bed, with the disinfectant bottle clutched in his hand.

Police said the father had gone next door to the home of his wife's people and grabbed the child from the arms of a sister-in-law and returned to his home where the stabbing occurred.

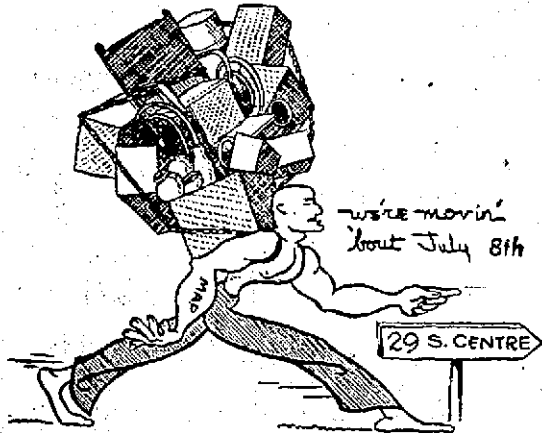

West Virginia State Trooper C. C. Oliver made the initial investigation of the incident which was reported by a neighbor, Elizabeth Stewart.

The kangaroo family has more than 50 members, some called by such names as euro, pademelon, wallaby and wallaroo.

IN A FLAT BOTTOM TUB the water, as it is forced away from the agitator, strikes the perpendicular side walls of the tub and in doing so is retarded. The straight side walls throw the water straight back and thus reduce the overall velocity of the water action. Slower water action means slower washing speed.

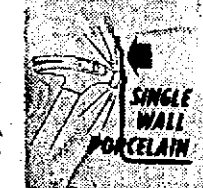

IN THE SPEED QUEEN BOWL-SHAPED TUB, as the water is forced away from the agitator, it glides up the smooth, rounding corners of the bowl without reducing the velocity of the agitated water. The result is the fastest washing speed developed in any washer.

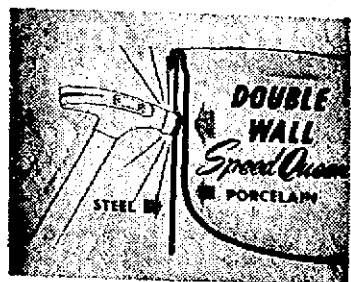

DOUBLE WALL PROTECTION AND ECONOMY, KEEPS WATER HOT!

Speed Queen's double wall construction also provides an armor of steel around the porcelain tub to protect the porcelain against any possible injury. A child's playful hammer might mar the exterior finish but could not damage the vital porcelain tub.

MOST WASHERS are of single-wall construction as shown above. The porcelain tub is always exposed to possible damage.

District Free Of Accidents Over Holiday

State Police Cite Light Traffic On Roads In Region

No accidents were reported at any of the area hospitals over the Fourth of July holiday, and state and city police in the region commented only on the lack of traffic on the highways yesterday.

Traffic yesterday was only a normal day's volume, according to state police in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The full complement of troopers headquartered at the LaVale State Police barracks was on duty yesterday in anticipation of heavy traffic, according to Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander.

All highways in Allegany and Garrett counties were patrolled, Lt. O'Hara said, and but comparatively few arrests were made. The radar machine manned by state police resulted in 18 motorists being issued tickets, while 33 other drivers were given warnings.

Radar Used Daily

Lt. O'Hara pointed out that the local barracks now has a full-time radar device, which will be put in use daily. He explained that prior to the first of the month, a radar machine was alternated between the LaVale and Frederick barracks.

The device has resulted in 21 arrests being made in the two counties since Monday, he continued, adding that it will be stationed on heavily traveled highways in an effort to cut down speeding which might result in death or heavy property damage.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick was kept busy this morning with traffic violation cases, most of which took place since Wednesday. Fines and forfeitures from 26 cases totaled $620, while two motorists were given jail sentences in default of fines.

A Washington driver was given 60 days in the county jail in default of a $150 fine, and 25 additional days in default of a $50 fine. Magistrate Dick specified that the sentences would be served consecutively. The charges were made as a result of City Police investigation of a two-car mishap Wednesday at the intersection of Paca and Johnson streets.

Draws Jail Term

A young Flintstone driver was sentenced to the county jail for 30 days in default of a $50 fine for unauthorized use of a vehicle, 30 days in default of a $50 fine for reckless driving, and 25 days in default of a $25 fine for failing to appear for trial. The two 30-day sentences were to be served concurrently.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn today said major credit for the lack of accidents in the city yesterday should be attributed to the radar machine which is manned daily at various stations.

The device was put in use yesterday on Frederick Street, with the result that 12 motorists were issued tickets for traveling in excess of 40 miles an hour. A number of other drivers were given warnings, the chief said, adding that the radar will be in use at strategic points where there are many complaints of speeding and reckless driving.

County To Fill Old Reservoir With Rocks

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners today decided to have an old reservoir on Willis Mountain, which formerly furnished water for Sylvan Retreat, filled in with large rocks.

Numerous complaints have been received in recent weeks concerning the use of the reservoir by youths and adults as a swimming place. One boy suffered a badly cut leg while using the reservoir.

The county in the last few years has tried a number of methods to prevent use of the pool for swimming. A wooden top was placed on the pool, fences erected and the water drained.

Raymond Messmer, superintendent of Sylvan Retreat, has been authorized to make arrangements for the pool to be filled in as soon as possible.

Using large rocks to fill in the pool will not damage the future use by the county. C. A. Reeder offered about a week ago to purchase the reservoir and adjacent land. This would require an act of the legislature to enable the county to sell the land and reservoir.

Hot, Humid, Safe Fourth Is Observed

The tri-state area experienced a hot and humid, but safe and sane Fourth of July.

Pools were crowded, and picnic areas were full as thousands flocked to the out-of-doors for the traditional holiday outing.

The summer resort sections of Deep Creek Lake, Cacapon River, South Branch, and nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia state parks were reported jammed with visitors and vacationists.

Many At Pools
At Calumet Pool, the third largest attendance of the season was experienced as a total of 1,200 admissions were reported. Minke's Pool on Christie Road had a record day, with many swimmers and picnickers being turned away later in the day.

No report could be obtained on the actual number of admissions at Constitution Park, but many who visited the park yesterday said the pool was full all day.

The temperature hit 92 degrees yesterday at noon in downtown Cumberland, and the heat continued through the day and night. Many persons stayed at home, however, to enjoy a day watching "ballgames" on TV or just "floating around" and taking it easy.

Fireworks At Park
Last night Cumberlanders witnessed a fireworks display from the Constitution Park ball diamond.

Bert Caldara, Mt. Savage, fireworks maker who put on the show, praised the cooperation of Gene Mason, city recreation director, and recreation department employees.

He said there were plenty of Cumberland Auxiliary Police on hand to keep the spectators at the park away from the explosives.

Caldara added that Thomas Hopwood, city park employee, headed a crew which had fire extinguishers ready for use if needed.

Just three or four years ago, an aerial bomb fell short and blew up all the fireworks in one spectacular series of blasts. It was probably the shortest fireworks display on record.

Fair, Cooler Forecast For City Tonight

The Weather Bureau says it's going to be fair and cooler tonight in Allegany and Garrett counties where the temperatures crept into the upper 80s and low 90s yesterday and today.

The low reading in Western Maryland is to be between 55 and 60 degrees. Tomorrow will be partly cloudy with a high of 78 to 82.

The slight respite from yesterday's hot, humid weather follows last night's warm, gusty winds. These were apparently offshoots of severe thunderstorms of tornado intensity in nearby eastern states.

The Weather Bureau, in a special thunderstorm warning, said the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland are to get severe thunderstorms with gusts of wind of more than 50 miles per hour.

The official high temperature in Cumberland yesterday was 90 degrees. Downtown the mercury got up to 92 degrees shortly after noon.

The forecast for Sunday is mostly fair and warmer, with a chance of showers late in the day in Garrett County.

Barber Rules Are Termed Interference

Changes in the state regulations of barbers sponsored by Del. Fred R. Driscoll of Allegany County were called "interference" with the freedom to engage in one of the common occupations of life by a Baltimore barber.

Pietro D. Liberto, a barber, asked the Baltimore Circuit Court to declare unconstitutional the revisions made by the 1957 legislature.

Liberto claimed some of the new requirements are unreasonable.

Among those he mentioned in his request for an injunction were the two-year apprenticeship required before license eligibility, preference for persons who have resided in Maryland for at least two years and the power to revoke licenses of master barbers on unjustifiable and discriminatory grounds.

Liberto also complained the new law seeks to put out of business operators of health schools and physiotherapists who employ massagers.

He also argued that the law is discriminatory because some counties were exempted from its provisions.

One of the major provisions of the law which became effective June 1 is a requirement for the annual renewal of barber licenses. August 1 is the deadline for renewal and those who do not renew by that time must take the examination required for new applicants. The renewal fee is $2.

The letter is as follows:

County Board Authorizes Roads Check

Final Payment On Mt. Savage Project Receives Approval

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners today authorized the payment of $51,632 to the State Roads Commission as the final amount due on the Mt. Savage School road.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert said the amount paid is for extra costs involved in construction of the roadway. The project was completed some time ago under the federal aid roads program.

Bills totaling $684.12 for the expenses of eight trial magistrates who attended a three-day convention of magistrates of Maryland at Ocean City on June 28, 29 and 30 were ordered paid today by the county commissioners.

Included were travel expenses at five cents per mile, rooms, meals, toll charges for using the Chesapeake Bay bridge and registration fees at the convention.

The offer of C. G. Nave, local Monroe Calculator Company dealer, to supply a new calculator for the Finance Department was accepted by the commissioners. They offered a new calculator for $700 net after an old machine was traded in. Robert F. Maust of the Friden Calculator Company of Hagerstown also offered the same bid of $700.

C. Raymond Yutzy wrote the board that two large poplar trees at the top of Calta Hill Road in Mt. Savage pose a hazard.

Yutzy said the trees are growing on his property line and comprise a blind spot to motorists using the road. He also said the limbs of the trees often are blown down during high winds. The matter was referred to the County Roads Department.

Civil Service Tests Planned For July 18

A Civil Service examination for city firemen and policemen will be conducted Thursday, July 18, at Fort Hill High School.

The tests will be given by the Civil Service Commission and will begin at 7 p. m.

Applications may be secured from City Clerk Wallace G. Ulery at City Hall, and must be returned to the clerk no later than 4 p. m. on Monday, July 15.

In announcing the examination for firemen, Chief Virgil A. Parker said that at least 10 or 12 men are needed on the eligibility list.

The chief urged young men of Cumberland to consider the position as a fireman. He pointed out that the job carries several advantages such as free hospitalization, pensions, paid vacations, sick leave and others.

Chief Parker also noted that uniforms are supplied to the men, and that the type of training offered not only includes methods of fighting fires, but also courses in first aid and other training which is useful in everyday life.

The qualifications for a fireman are 21 to 35 years of age, resident of Cumberland three years, two years high school, must be five-feet seven inches tall and weight at least 135 pounds.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn emphasized this fact in a statement recently and cited advantages of a policeman's job including permanency, security and fringe benefits.

Dr. Clay E. Durrett and Dr. Leo H. Ley will examine the men desiring to take the test.

Arthur T. Ward, 48, of Keyser, was reported in "good" condition today by attaches at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where he was admitted Wednesday with injuries suffered while doing cleanup work after a B&O freight car derailment near Bloomington, Md.

Ward suffered a fractured right leg, fractured left ankle and sprained right ankle when the load shifted in the freight car in which he was working.

Payment Of Bill Causes Dispute

The payment of Commissioner William Lemmer's expenses to the School for Maryland Assessing Officers last week at College Park met opposition Tuesday at a meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson voiced his objection to payment of Commissioner Lemmer's portion of the expense, saying it was not necessary, and was a waste of the taxpayers' money.

However the bill for $301.75 was approved and paid. Attending the school at University of Maryland besides Commissioner Lemmer were Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments; Edward Eichner, David E. Kirk and Francis Plummer, assessors.

The total bill of $301.75 included transportation, meals, school registration and incidentals.

Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Lou Barkman and Mrs. John Yokum, both of Pennsylvania; Mrs. George Anapase, Staten Island, N. Y.; and eight grandchildren.

The body is at the residence where services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. with Rev. Charles Eaton Jr., pastor of Bloomington Methodist Church, officiating.

Interment will be in the Turner Cemetery, Backbone Mountain.

Lions Club Directors Will Meet On July 12

The board of directors of the Cumberland Lions Club will meet Friday, July 12 at 7:30 p. m. at the George Williams Room at the Central YMCA.

A meeting of the Lions Club budget committee will be held Monday at the Queen City Brewing Company office.

Early Service Set At Emmanuel Church

A service of Holy Communion and sermon will be held Sunday at 9:30 a. m. at Emmanuel Episcopal Church instead of the usual time to allow the rector, Rev. H. M. Richardson, to leave for Bloomington, Ind., where he will attend a special week of emphasis on adult education at the University of Indiana.

County Gets Forest Funds

Allegheny County has received $517.23 in additional funds from receipts of Green Ridge State Forest for the period from January 1 to March 31, according to William H. Johnson, district forester.

To date Allegheny County has received a total of $1,117 for the current fiscal year. The money is realized from the sale of timber as well as income from camping permits, rentals and gas leases.

Garrett County received $818.35 as income for the first three months of 1957 from Savage River, Swallow Falls and Potomac State Forests as well as Deep Creek Park.

The total received by the county during the fiscal year was $4,905.51. Frederick County received $70.39 from Gambrill and Cunningham State Parks for the three months period and $405.97 for the fiscal year thus far.

Washington County received $9.62 from income of Port Frederick and Washington Monument State Parks. The total for the fiscal year thus far was $177.32.

Johnson said the income from state forests is ever increasing due to timber managed as a crop. The income is realized from production and sale of timber except for areas set aside as recreation areas.

Income from State Parks is relatively less and the money received is realized from use fees, permits and occasional salvage of dead timber cut for improvements in the areas.

The United States has about half the world's surfaced roads.

Friend Seeks Open Records For Public

Says He Had To Go To Court To See Garrett Co. Books

The Legislative Council's Judiciary Committee is studying a bill which has the personal interest of one of its members, State Sen. Clifford Friend of Garrett County.

It is a legal specification that records in Maryland should be accessible to the public.

"We need this bill, especially for my county," said Sen. Friend at a meeting of the Judiciary Committee.

"I have been denied access in the past to certain public records," he said.

He said he had to go to the adjoining county of Allegany for a judge's order in order to see certain records.

The bill declaring official records open to the public was referred to the Legislative Council after being bounced around at the General Assembly earlier this year.

Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert), the sponsor, said "the public right to know is all I'm interested in. If you want to put in protections, I'm agreeable."

Some opposition has been expressed to making public such records as adoptions and welfare.

Sen. Malkus (D-Dorchester), the Judiciary chairman, also said he wanted to be "careful about busy bodies and gossip seekers."

The Maryland Press Assn., in whose behalf Goldstein said he introduced the bill, requested the committee to delay action until it might work up a substitute.

Malkus gave the association until Sept. 1 to offer a new draft.

Goldstein also will offer for study a similar bill signed last week in Pennsylvania. He said about 30 states now have such open record laws.

Forest Work Up In District

District Forester William H. Johnson said 1,669 acres of land in the four Western Maryland counties were reforested during the fiscal year ending June 30. Planting of 1,609,000 trees were listed for that period.

This was the best reforestation record in Western Maryland since the State Department of Forests and Parks began keeping such records.

Some 1,016½ acres were reforested by private individuals and industries, the district forester said. Of this total 938 acres were planted by private individuals and private clubs.

Some 16½ acres were reforested by forest industries and 62 acres by railroads, power companies and other related industries.

Of the 592½ acres of public lands reforested, 501 acres were on state forests, 48 acres on other state land such as that under control of the State Game and Inland Fisheries Commission and 43½ acres reforested by towns, public schools and county governments.

Johnson said he did not have a county-by-county breakdown on the tree planting, although Garrett County was the leader. Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties also are in his district.

Equity suits filed in Allegheny County Circuit Court include Dewey E. Keister vs. Anna May Keister and Dorothy Arvella Bowman vs. William E. Bowman.

Beth Jacob Service Set

Services at Beth Jacob Synagogue on North Centre Street will be held at 8 p. m. today with Rabbi Ralph Carmel in charge. He will be introduced by Dr. Samuel Jacobson, vice president of the congregation. Moe Sachs will be cantor.

Rabbi Carmel, a native of Israel, studied at the Yeshiva Pelech Tikvah in Israel. After coming to the United States in 1947, he was graduated from Yeshiva College in New York City in 1950, and was ordained as rabbi at the Isaac Elchanan Theological Seminary of Yeshiva University.

Rabbi Carmel was spiritual leader of Congregation Kehillath Jacob in Fond du Lac, Wis., from 1950 to 1955. He is now serving as rabbi at Sinai Temple in Tacoma, Wash.

An Oneg Shabbat will be held in the vestry after the services. Postesses for the evening will be Mrs. Sandor Levine and Mrs. Samuel Kardon.

Quite a few area athletes are getting their basic training with the Army at Fort Jackson, S. C., according to Joe Cioni, our "special" correspondent in the field.

The 1956 All-City footballer from LaSalle High who is a member of the Allegheny County contingent of 57, says the Jackson training roster shows basketballers Jim Harden and George Henckel of Mt. Savage High School, Grover Fazenbaker, the Valley High pitcher, and several soccer players from the Western Maryland Interscholastic League.

Also in the group are the sons of Charley Keller, the former Yankee baseball great and now a scout with the Bombers. Young Charley, who triggered the attack of the Frederick High basketball team this past season which led to a state championship for coach Homer Brooks, plans to enter the University of Maryland following his tour of duty.

The younger Keller, Don, won't be a senior until next fall and is at Jackson for only 11 weeks. Most of the others will be doing a six-month stint in khaki before returning to civilian life.

Other Frederick High athletes in the group are tackle John Curmudoy and Roland Carey, an end on the Cadet football team last year.

The Allegheny County contingent, according to Pvt. Cioni, has remained together with the exception of Henckel who was sent to the camp hospital with high blood pressure. Basic training began for the young soldiers two Mondays ago.

'Ike' Talks Football

Senator J. Glenn Beall recently accompanied Monsignor John L. Sheridan to the White House for a conference with President Eisenhower, but Allegheny County's representative in America's upper chamber didn't get much of a chance to talk.

It developed that "Ike" and Msgr. Sheridan had a football experience in common, both having played against the Carlisle Indians and Jim Thorpe, the super star.

President of Mount St. Mary's College, Msgr. Sheridan revealed that he played on the Mounties' team that absorbed a 42-0 opening setback at the hands of Carlisle prior to World War I.

The nation's Chief Executive recalled that he, as a member of the Army team at West Point, played against Thorpe and his Indian teammates that same season. And the Cadets got the same treatment, being soundly trounced 32 to 14.

Senator Beall, although surprised by the mutual experience on the gridiron by the two "presidents," was well aware of the priest's football ability. He was an ardent sports follower in his days as a student at Gettysburg College, just as he is now. And Gettysburg at the time was a "friendly enemy" of Mount St. Mary's.

The Senator, as well as foes of the Mounties, learned that the historic gallop through the Shenandoah Valley was not the only "Sheridan Ride." Msgr. Sheridan was a better than average football player and through his ability to show his heels to opponents, he was selected as an All-Maryland halfback.

The priest told "Ike" that against Carlisle, Mount St. Mary's had only 14 players while the Indians sent out four teams of impressive size for pregame warmup. He said, sank even lower when Thorpe was observed kicking the football the length of the playing field in practice.

In 1916, the year following his graduation from West Point, President Eisenhower, while stationed at Fort Sam Houston, served as football coach at San Antonio's St. Louis College (now St. Mary's University) which was operated by the Society of Mary.

Incidentally, the two "chief executives" will have a chance to renew their discussion on football next year because the purpose of the White House visit by Msgr. Sheridan was to invite "Ike" to the 150th anniversary celebration of the founding of Mount St. Mary's in 1938. Mr. Eisenhower accepted.

Small Schools Break Monotony In Wyoming

Leydig Wins Eighth; Hyndman Stretches Streak

Merchants Snare Sixth Via Shutout Of Sluggers

PEN-MAR STANDINGS
W. L.
Hyndman 14 1 Barreville 8 7
Festerville 9 6 Grantsville 6 8
Hyndman 9 6 Wellersburg 6 10
Mt. Savage 3 6 Flintstone 0 14

Shutout pitching and solid hitting, the combination that will win every time.

Hyndman got both yesterday in the Pen-Mar Baseball League as Jim Leydig, the loop's winningest hurler, slipped a three-hitter at Grantsville and the Merchants' batters slapped 15 safeties for a 9-0 white washing of the Sluggers on the Hyndman diamond.

The triumph, the 14th in 15 games for the pacesetter, was also their sixth in a row. The win for Leydig was his eighth without a loss.

Barreville Slips To Fifth

In yesterday's other Fourth of July holiday clashes, Centerville and Zihlman stayed tied for second place while Barreville fell to fifth and Mt. Savage slipped into fourth place.

Zihlman won over Barreville, 5-3, on the losers' diamond while Centerville handed Wellersburg a 10-1 setback at home and Mt. Savage stretched Flintstone's winless streak to 14 with a 16-4 lacing of the Farmers at Savage.

The circuit will be idle tomorrow while on Sunday Hyndman is host to Flintstone. Mt. Savage invades Zihlman, Wellersburg is at home against Barreville and Centerville plays at Grantsville. All games begin at 2:30 p.m.

Leydig gave up only three singles and whiffed eight Sluggers as Hyndman kept its five-game lead in the loop. Tom Milavec, John Keister and Lynn Kitzmiller socked the one-baggers for the losers.

Score Seven In Seventh

The Merchants were waged in a tight duel with the invaders until a seven-run seventh broke the contest wide open. Clay Leydig had doubled in the game's only run until then in the home fourth.

Kitzmiller, who was relieved by Junior Perry with the bases loaded in the seventh, came back in after Perry had walked over two runs and was charged with the loss.

Bob Bryant had two doubles and a single as did Clites for the winners. Clay Leydig socked a double and pair of one-baggers Jim Leydig chipped in with a pair of singles and Ray Morgert connected for a double and single.

Heavy hitting by Paul "Bubbles" Thompson and Rickey Harris helped send Bobby Haines down to defeat as Zihlman knocked last year's champion Barreville club out of the three-way tie for second place.

Thompson enjoyed a 4-for-5 afternoon, getting a double and three singles. Harris cracked out a pair of doubles and single and Jack Skidmore had a pair of one-baggers.

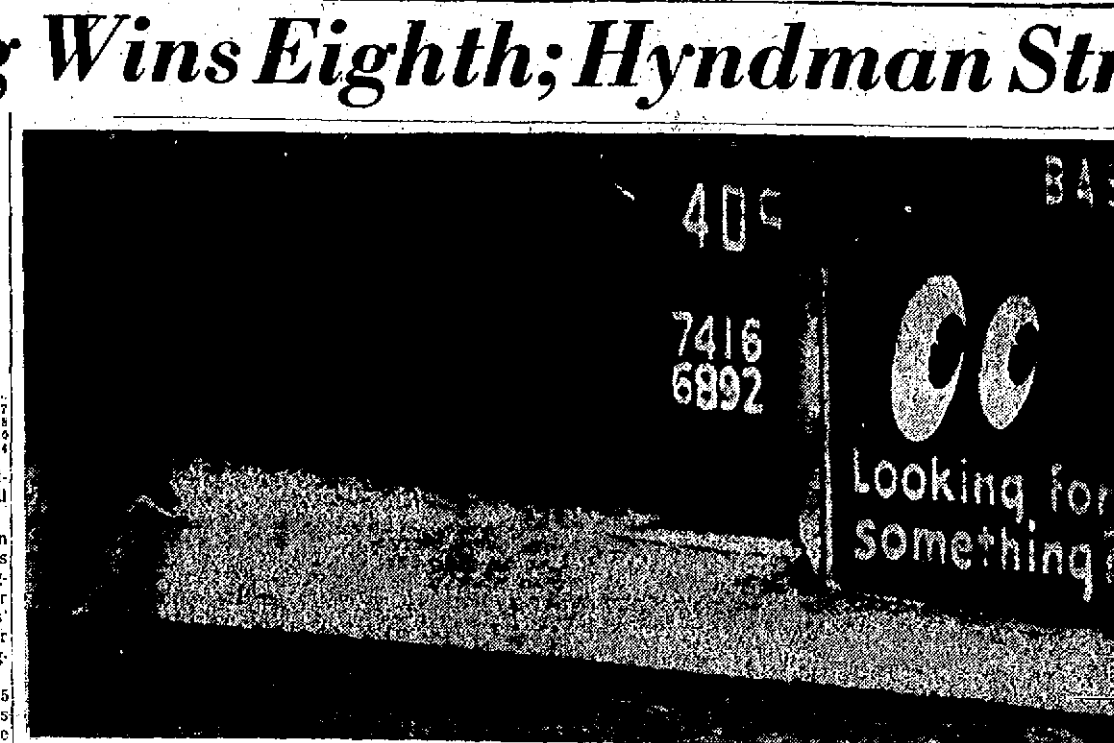

George Bishfield was in command all the way and had the Old Exports shut out until the bottom of the ninth when they tallied on a couple of errors.

Zihlman-pecked away at Raines for runs in the first three frames and added its final two in the top of the sixth. Jesse Markley took over and finished without allowing a run.

Old Gees On Rampage

Mt. Savage put on the biggest hit spree of the afternoon, banging out 13 safeties in routing Flintstone. The Old Germans, who now have won eight and lost six, scored in every inning they batted but the fifth and sixth before the home folks.

Ed Warrick rapped a pair of doubles and two singles to spearhead the attack. Roy Holt had a double and pair of singles, Bob Blank a double and single, Ken Johnson a triple and single and Pat Folk and Tommy Lewis two singles each.

EYES RIGHT? — Richie Ashburn, Philadelphia center fielder, certainly is "looking for something" as he scampers after a long triple by New York Giant catcher Ray Kalt in fifth inning of yesterday's second game. Ball got past Ashburn, dropping in gravel near right-field fence with "eyes" that seem to be looking away. Phils won both games. (AP Photofax)

Finney Sets Climb Record In Pikes Peak

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (INS)—Bob Finney of Colorado Springs drove his racing car to a new record in the 12.5 mile, 146-turn Pikes Peak hill climb yesterday.

Finney's American Builders Special raged up the mountain in 14:11.7, bettering the previous record of 14:27 set last year by Bobby Unser of Albuquerque. Unser was third yesterday in 14:19.2.

Runnerup was Slim Roberts of Denver, driving a Frenzel Special, in 14:13.4. He also smashed the previous best mark.

Paul Kleinschmidt of Colorado Springs was fourth in 14:49.1, followed by the "Old Man of the Mountain," Louis Unser, in 14:49.7. Charley Lowderman of Colorado Springs, 14:50.3, and Dan Morgan at Pueblo, Colo., 14:50.4.

Seven racing cars failed to finish.

In the stock model competition, Jerry Unser of Albuquerque set a new record of 15:39.2 in a Ford. Unser also won last year, in 1956. He ran off the road once but went on to win yesterday's race.

Dick Sanborn Jr., of Cascade, Colo., in a Ford was second in 15:48.8, followed by Herb Byers of Colorado Springs in a Plymouth, Bob Korf of Dayton, O., in a Chevrolet, and Glen E. Loyd of Albuquerque was fifth in a "family" Chevrolet.

All-American Gals' Singles May Be 'Battle Of Nerves'

By JOHN FARROW

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The All-American women's singles final at the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships Saturday may turn on one odd factor — "serving nerves."

Both Althea Gibson of New York and Earlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., can whip the ball over the net with almost masculine power.

They did just that yesterday to reach the final. Miss Gibson easily defeated the surprising British youngster, 16-year-old Christine Truman, 6-1, 6-1. Miss Hard handled Mrs. Dorothy Head Knobe, Forest Hills, N.Y., with similar ease, 6-2, 6-3.

Both Get Shakes

But these two finalists sometimes dish up incredible double faults at key points in a match, the sort of mistakes you associate with Sunday afternoon players.

Darlene, fair-haired with a gay smile and a happy-go-lucky game, gets the shakes more often than Althea. In fact the 21-year-old Californian has a reputation for throwing games away with her wobbly service just when she seems to have a title wrapped up.

Miss Gibson has been in trouble several times during Wimbledon for foot-faults. That is something capable of throwing the New Yorker off her game if she gets called too often in a match. Once, in Australia, she was foot-faulted 21 times in a match.

Set On Winning

But 29-year-old Miss Gibson of the big serve and volley game has set her heart on becoming the first Negro to take a Wimbledon crown. And she says: "I'm very hopeful of beating Miss Hard."

Miss Gibson has defeated Miss Hard three times this season and will be the favorite Saturday. But the Californian is capable of upsetting the New Yorker if she keeps her game under control, and his peak form as she did in defeating Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., in the quarter-finals.

Serves, too, will be all important in today's men's singles final between Australian stars Lew Hoad and Ashley Cooper.

Hoad, particularly, saves that big, booming service for the time when he needs a vital point. Then he makes a habit of whipping the ball over the net for an ace.

Equine Youth Has Fling On Holiday Card

By The Associated Press

Equine youth had its fling on the American turf yesterday as 273,266 fans wagered $18,010,408 at 12 major running tracks. Two old-timers also came through with rich victories.

Bolevo U., a 2-year-old, carried Willie Hartack to his 27th stakes victory when he won the $24,750 Tyro Stakes at Monmouth Park. The purse of $15,312 raised the colt's earnings for the year to $57,312. He paid $4.

Traffic Judge, a consistent 5-year-old, purchased from the estate of Clifford Moores last December for $362,345.67, retired from racing with earnings of $132,450 after winning the $85,550 Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park for the most important triumph of his career. The son of Alibhai enters the stud with a record of 13 victories in 44 starts.

With Eddie Arcaro in the saddle, Traffic Judge beat Lofly Peak by a head. Top-weighted Dedicate was only another neck back.

The Judge picked up $58,450 and returned his backers $10.40 for $2.

The old-timer was Find, Alfred G. Vanderbilt's 7-year-old, who won the $55,550 American Handicap at Hollywood Park and ran his total earnings to $522,854 with a purse of $32,500. He paid $9.70 for $2.

Lions, idle this evening, pace the circuit with a 6-1 mark while Elks have won four of six at templs. Rotary has yet to win in seven outings.

Hoad Takes Singles Title

By The Associated Press

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Power-hitting Lew Hoad of Australia trounced his countryman, Ashley Cooper, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2, today to win the All-England Lawn Tennis Championship for the second straight year. The 22-year-old Hoad became the first player ever to win the Wimbledon title two straight years since America's Don Budge accomplished the feat in 1937 and 1938.

Furgol Proves It's Easy To Finish With An Eight

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Ed Furgol, 1934 National Open champion, is bitter about the 8 he had on the 17th hole of the U.S. Open. It prevented him from qualifying for the final 36 holes at Inverness for the first time since 1953.

"Bill Campbell's caddy seemed the oldest of the three boys," said Furgol. "I asked him if I needed a driver off the tee and he said: 'yes.' I should have used a 3-wood because I hit the ball into the rough. My second shot, with a 7 iron, went 20 feet. My 8 iron shot went 50 yards. My fourth I put in a trap. I made the green in five and three-putted from 15 feet. I came to the 17th one over par and then took that 8 and wound up with a bogie 5."

Furgol's 8 could very well have been a 10. Under USGA rules a player in the Open can ask for advice only from his own caddy. Advice from others could mean a two-stroke penalty.

Middlecoff's Hopes Fade After Poor Third Round

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Cary Middlecoff's hopes of winning the British Open golf championship faded badly on the third round today as he shot a two-over-par 74 on the third round for a 54-hole total of 217.

Going into the final round this afternoon, the two-time American Open champion from Memphis, Tenn. had only the slenderest chance of coming back strongly enough to win.

While Middlecoff was having his troubles on the St. Andrews Old Course, South Africa's Bobby Locke, who has won the British Open three times, was threatening to take the lead from the players who set the pace through the first two rounds.

Locke, two strokes behind the leader, Eric Brown of Scotland, with 1st after 36 holes, was 6 under par after 11 holes of the third round. He went out in 33, then shot an eagle two on the tenth and a birdie three on the eleventh. Par for the 6,996-yard old course is 36-36-72.

Leaders among the early finishers ahead of Middlecoff were Tom Halliburton of England and Angel Miguel of Spain, with 54-hole totals of 213.

Frank Stranahan, wealthy Toledo, Ohio, professional, also took a 74 on the third round and was two strokes behind Middlecoff at 219.

Mayfield Tabbed Mayer To Win National Open

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Shelley Mayfield, pro at Meadow Brook in Jericho, N.Y., picked the winner of the National Open the day before Dick Mayer and Cary Middlecoff finished in their 282 tie.

"I like the way Mayer is playing," Mayfield said. "And I like the way he has been practicing at Inverness." When Middlecoff's name was mentioned the same day, Mayfield said: "I practiced next to him and I didn't like the sound of his shots. I didn't look to see where they went but they sounded like they were being hit off center."

Mayfield beat Middlecoff in the playoff, 72-78, two days later.

Mayfield was impressed with Mayer's 66 in the final round of the Rubber City Open at the Firestone Country Club in Akron. It gave him a 278, a tie for fifth place and $930.

Dodgers Bats Still Hold Key To Torrid Race

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO 48 — Brooklyn bats still hold the key to the torrid National League pennant chase, says Manager Fred Hutchinson, whose St. Louis Cardinals virtually share the lead with Cincinnati and Milwaukee.

"I have a hunch the race will go right down to the wire," said Hutchinson after the Cardinals split a double-header yesterday with the Cubs to retain second place. The Cards then left for home and the opening of a four-game series tonight with the leading Redlegs.

One Of Greatest Races
"It's one of the greatest races I've seen," he said.

"These Dodger bats could break up the entire party, however. They have more power than anybody else, and if they get hot, and stay that way, they could repeat. Otherwise, it's pretty even, and I wouldn't be surprised if it stayed that way."

"That could be the pattern, especially if everybody can help blanket that Dodger power. Brooklyn isn't any tougher than anybody else when they aren't hitting."

Young Pitchers Surprise
As for his Cardinals, Hutchinson said his most pleasant surprise has been his young pitchers. He listed as disappointments thus far the inability of Wally Moon and Ken Boyer to hit.

"Moon had a good streak then slumped off," he said. "Boyer hasn't even had a streak yet."

Boyer, however, got three hits, including his ninth homer, in yesterday's first game although the Cardinals lost 7-6. He got only a single in four trips in the nightcap, but St. Louis pulled out a 4-3 decision.

"Our hitting has been too spotty," Hutchinson added. "Right now we are resting Moon with hopes he can get going again."

Teams Lead Races After Twin Bills Of July 4

By FRED DE LUCA
NEW YORK (INS)—The New York Yankees and Cincinnati Redlegs are prepared to test the old baseball superstition that the teams leading the pack on Independence Day will lead it at season's end as well.

But the Yankees were bound to feel much more confident in their assigned role than the Redlegs.

Casey Stengel's bully boys finished the hectic holiday with a handsome three-game double. Thus, they split a doubleheader with Boston, but so did the second-place Chicago White Sox, the third-place Cleveland Indians and, perforce, the fourth-place Red Sox.

Not so the Redlegs. Their margin is half a game and four percentage points. And they backed into that, losing a single game to Milwaukee, 10 to 7, while runner-up St. Louis could do no more than split a doubleheader with lowly Chicago.

Pirates, Dodgers Split
Two runs in the ninth inning cost the Cardinals the first game, 7 to 6, and they squeezed through in the nightcap, 4 to 3, to maintain a two percentage point lead over Milwaukee.

Fourth-place Brooklyn broke even, too, losing the opener to Pittsburgh's Bob Friend, 5 to 1, and then triumphing, 8 to 2, behind Don Newcombe. Philadelphia achieved the only sweep in either league, defeating the Willie Mays-Less New York Giants, 2 to 1 and 6 to 2.

In the American League, the Yankees lost to the Red Sox 3 to 2, on Mickey Vernon's two-run ninth-inning pinch homer and then won, 4 to 1, behind Don Larsen before 52,791 spectators. The White Sox shut out Kansas City for eight innings but lost their opener, 5 to 4, in the ninth. Chicago won the nightcap, 8 to 3.

Cleveland's Early Wynn posted his 11th victory in the opener against Detroit, 3 to 1, but the Indians lost the afterpiece, 4 to 3. Baltimore climbed into a virtual fifth-place tie with the Tigers by taking a single game from Washington in 11 innings, 3 to 2.

The pesky 39-year-old Vernon hit his winning homer off Bob Grim, who had relieved Bobby Shantz in the ninth. Shantz tired in the heat after allowing only four hits—including a Dick Gernert homer—in the first eight innings.

Vernon Homers Again
Vernon homered again in the second contest to spoil a second straight shutout for Don Larsen, who pitched a strong five-hitter for his fourth victory.

The first-game loss snapped a seven-game Yankee winning streak. Jack Harshman and Paul LaPalme seemed to have the Athletics in the bag in their opener with Chicago, but LaPalme's knuckler started hopping the wrong way in the ninth. Three walks and four hits later, the A's had five runs and the decision.

The White Sox banged out 15 hits to make the second game easy for Bob Keegan, who scattered 11 hits for his fourth win.

Charley Maxwell singled home two runs in the eighth inning of the second game to earn Detroit its split with Cleveland. A three-run homer in the fifth inning by Rocky Colavito accounted for all the first-game runs as Wynn spun a three-hitter to tie Billy Pierce as the winningest pitcher in the majors.

Jim Brideweser singled with two out in the 11th to score Jim Bushy from third for the Orioles to nip the Senators and complete Baltimore's best home stand in its brief modern major league history. The Orioles won 12 to 17 and are .0002 behind the Tigers.

Aaron On Spree
After losing two straight to the Redlegs, whom they had beaten seven in a row previously this season, the Braves came from behind three times to whip them yesterday before a crowd of 20,000, finally nailing down the decision with a four-run outburst in the eighth.

Jack Aaron had two doubles and his 26th homer—his sixth in the last seven games—for the Braves, who were out-hit, 17 to 10.

Ellerslie, 'Coney Streaks On Line

Two of the longest winning streaks in the district got strong tests this evening as undefeated Ellerslie is host to Mt. Savage and Lonaconing lakes on Cresap-town at home in the Bi-State Pony Baseball League.

Ellerslie has yet to lose in 11 outings while Mt. Savage has hoarded nine of 11 attempts. One of the losses by 'Savage was a 10-4 lacing by Ellerslie. 'Savage is runnerup in the circuit and two games off the pace.

Lonaconing has climbed steadily in the race and carries an eight-game win string into the clash with Cresapstown. 'Coney can take over second place with a victory if Savage becomes Ellerslie's 12th victim. Lonaconing is third with eight wins and two setbacks while Cresapstown has won five and lost six.

Frostburg and Midland langle on the latter's diamond in today's third tilt. Midland (3-7) has a one-and-one-half game edge over Frostburg (2-9) in the battle for sixth place.

All three games start at 6 o'clock.

Trouble Seen By Middlecoff In Ryder Cup

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland 4-1—A short golf course, short-sightedness and a short sized ball are the reasons Cary Middlecoff sees for giving the United States a "peck of trouble" in the Ryder Cup matches.

"I don't think I know we are going to have trouble this fall in the matches," Middlecoff said today as he started the final two rounds of the British Open in a very favorable position.

The Memphis, Tenn. dentist, playing in his first British Open, was only four strokes back of Scotland's pace setter Eric Brown after shooting a one-under-par 71 over the Old Course yesterday for a 35-hole total of 143.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, twice winner of the British Amateur but now a pro, also was in striking position with a 145. They were the only two Americans to survive the cut down to the 50 low scorers.

On '53 and '55 Teams—Middlecoff was a member of both the 1953 and 1955 American Ryder Cup teams which did not easily defeat the British team.

"We won finally," Middlecoff said, "but we had to go hard to do it. And, some of the reasons which hurt us will hurt again." The matches will be played at Lindrick Course in Yorkshire Oct. 4-5.

"The fact that matches are in Britain is a big disadvantage for us," the 1949 and 1956 U. S. National Open champion said.

"We do not play as well over here as we do at home naturally. Then, we will be trying to use the little British ball."

"It will be new to many Americans and I have learned during two trips over here that it takes at least two weeks to master how to pitch it—especially when you are 150 yards or less from the green."

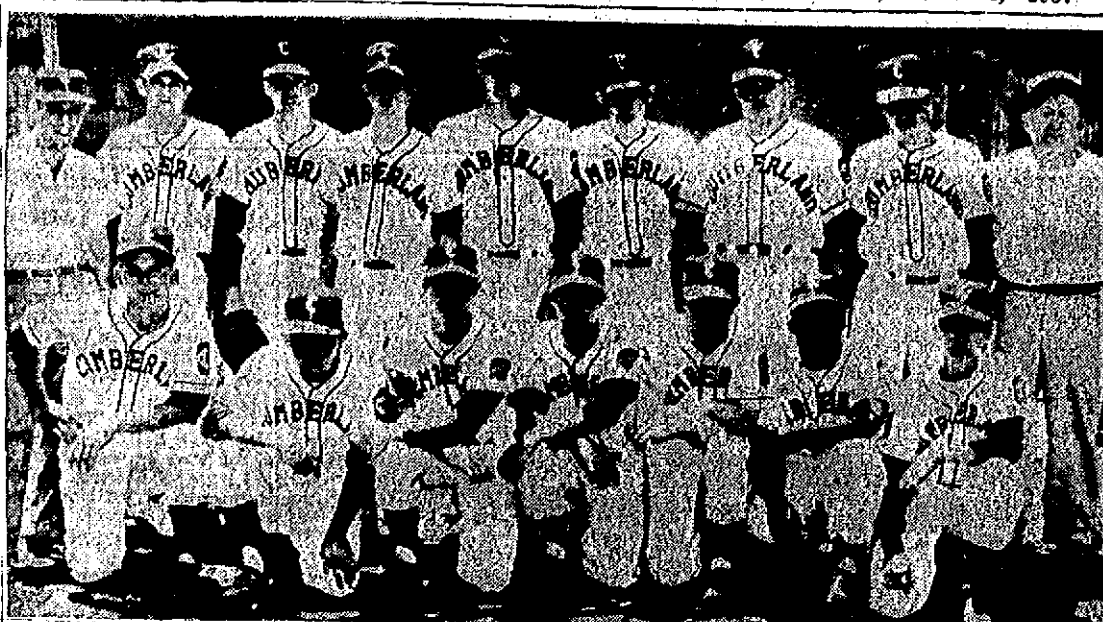

"Our team will not be here two weeks before the matches, so we will not be as ready as we would like."

Course Short—Lindrick is a short course, 6,400 yards. Americans are big hitters, but big hitters don't have as much advantage on a short course.

"And finally, some of our best players are not eligible for the team."

Middlecoff would not say who he meant. However, both Ben Hogan and Dutch Harrison have not played in enough tournaments to win a place. Sam Snead, at last reckoning, did not have enough points, although he was expected to try to collect them this month.

Three young players, Gene Littler, Mike Souchak and Dow Finsterwald, have not served their necessary internship. Only six players are considered for sure. They are Ted Kroll, Doug Ford, Middlecoff, Jimmy Demaret, Jack Burke and Dick Mayer.

TIME RUNNING OUT—Here's the Fort Cumberland Post 13 American Legion Junior baseball team that will be out to snare its first game in the best-of-seven series against Midland when they clash tomorrow on the Midland diamond at 2:30. Cumberland is two down, losing the opener, 9-7, and again on Tuesday, 8-6. The locals are the defending champs for District One.

Redleg Star Makes Frick 'Eat Crowe'

By International News Service

Commissioner Ford Frick's "benching" of three Cincinnati players for the All-Star game will be a subject of controversy for a long time. But it might be said that one of the Redlegs concerned is trying to make the commissioner eat crow.

That would be big George Crowe, the Redlegs' stand-in first baseman.

As it turned out, the last-minute deluge of Cincinnati votes wouldn't quite have enabled the bespectacled 34-year-old Crowe to displace first baseman Stan Musial of the Cardinals in the starting lineup.

But ever since the All-Star balloting hassel, Crowe has been hitting with renewed vigor. Yesterday, he reached his peak against Milwaukee with three singles and his 17th and 18th home runs in five times at bat, driving in six runs and lifting his season's RBI total to 53.

The Redlegs lost, 10 to 7, but there was personal satisfaction for Crowe because his perfect day at bat came against a club for which he formerly played.

Crowe, who has a bachelor of science degree from Indiana Central College, came up with the Braves when they still called Boston home in 1952. When Joe Adcock broke his wrist in 1955, George filled in capably with a .281 average and 15 homers—nine in the final 53 games.

The Braves traded him to Cincinnati the next April, where he seemed doomed to bench-warming duties. Then Ted Kluszewski's aching back gave George a chance to get into the lineup. It is a tribute to his play that the Redlegs are in first place without big Klu.

Dapper Yankees, Senators Seek Sixth In Row

The two remaining unbeaten teams in the Dapper Dan Little League will both put their spotless records to test today as front-running Yankees clash with Giants in a 4 o'clock contest at Post Field while pacing Senators meet Braves at 6 o'clock at Alleghany Field.

In the other 6 o'clock tilt Dodgers will tangle with Athletics at East Side Field.

Yankees have clipped off five triumphs and can take their second against Giants in their Dapper Division fray. Giants, with a 2-3 mark, have won their last two since the 5-3 setback to the loop leaders.

Senators, keeping pace with Yankees in the win column, go after their sixth and also second against Braves in the Abrams Division. The Braves (4-1) were trimmed, 10-5, in the opener and have taken their last two outings since the loss.

Phillies deadlocked Red Sox for the lead in the Dan Division with a 16-4 victory Wednesday. Dodgers want to get back into the race and carry a 2-3 mark against Athletics (1-4) in their tilt. The A's drubbed Dodgers, 18-8, in their first clash.

The Tigers and Indians will meet tomorrow, 10 a. m., at Alleghany Field in a playoff of a postponed game.

Maple Inn Meets Burkey's Today

Maple Inn Old German, making a strong bid for the lead in the County Softball League, carry a four-game win streak into this evening's clash with Burkey's on the latter's diamond.

The Old Germans, who knocked off Corriganville Tuesday to move within a game of the lead, have won 10 of 15 starts and have a 3-2 edge over Burkey's in their series. Burkey's is 6-9 for the campaign.

Corriganville, playing only .500 ball in the last four starts to see its lead sliced to a game, will invade Stringtown in today's other tilt. The Old Exports have taken 11 of 15 attempts and show a 4-1 record against the last-place Stringtown crew which has a 3-12 mark.

Cases Clash With Hermans

The on-again, off-again fight for first place in the City Softball League will be temporarily decided this evening when the Hermans and Knights of Columbus jangle at Siltcher Field.

The Casesys and Hermans are knotted for the top slot with 8-2 records and collide for the third time. The Knights have not lost in eight games since dropping their first two clashes.

The Hermans beat the Casesys, 2-1 in 10 innings, the first time around, and then had their unbeaten streak snapped at six as the K of C took a 7-5 triumph.

Old Exports and Blue Ribbon Bakery are listed for a contest at Post Field while Old Germans are idle today.

The Exports have won four of 11 tilts while the Bakers have won only once in nine outings. Both games today start at 6:15.

Featherweights To Clash Tonight

WASHINGTON (INS)—Davy Moore, of Springfield, Ohio, the tenth-ranked featherweight according to Ring Magazine, takes on Isidro Martinez of Colon, Panama, tonight in a nationally televised (NBC) ten-round bout.

This will be the second meeting between the two boxers. Martinez won the earlier bout, held two years ago in Colon, by a decision.

Moore, 23, has won 24 fights, including 12 via the knockout path, lost five and has figured in one draw. Martinez, 22, has had 21 bouts and has won 18 of them, including eight by knockouts. He has lost twice and boxed one draw.

Martinez will be making his second appearance in the Capitol Arena ring. In his first appearance last January, the former Latin American Olympic bantamweight champion defeated the Chesnut of New York.

Ted Williams Finally Begins To Show Age

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Williams, despite his lofty batting average, is finally beginning to show his years.

The Boston Red Sox slugger, generally regarded as baseball's best hitter during the past two decades, is not as feared by opposing pitchers as he used to be.

"Something tells me I shouldn't say this," a New York Yankee pitcher remarked "because it would be just like the big son-of-a-gun to make me eat my words before the day is over. But if you ask me I think Ted has lost something."

"Sure he's still a great hitter, but he doesn't seem to have that old snap in his swing any more. At least he hasn't shown me that old buggy-whip swing of his. I think he knows it too. He doesn't appear to be as confident at the plate as he used to be. He takes more good pitches now and he even swings at some bad ones too. He doesn't seem to be too sure of himself."

"Maybe I'm wrong about him, but I feel more confident when I'm pitching against him now than ever before. At least I don't get a nervous feeling any more when he strides up to the plate. There was a time when I'd be happy to settle for a single or double. Now I feel I've got a 50-50 chance against him."

Williams, 38, did not distinguish himself at the plate as the Yankees and Red Sox divided their holiday double-header. He drew a walk in the first game, but failed to hit the ball out of the infield in his three other turns at bat against Bobby Shantz, Boston won 3-2.

Obviously tired, Ted was given a rest in the second game but he turned up as a pinch hitter in the fifth against Don Larsen and went out on a high pop foul. The Yankees won 4-1.

KELLY TIRES HOPE TO DEADLOCK THIRD

Kelly Tires will be out to slip back into the tie for third place in the Rec Softball League this evening when meeting National Guard at Fort Hill Field.

The Tiresmen will be after their sixth win in 10 attempts while the Guardsmen are in eighth place with a 2-9 showing. Perkins' Shoe Store and West Maryland are knotted for third now with 4-4 showings.

Carscaden Wins Flag Tournament

Bill Carscaden took first prize in the flag tournament at the Cumberland Country Club. Fifty-five golfers were entered.

Second was Dr. Samuel Jacobson, followed by John Wilson, George Bittorf and Jim Truka.

Coming closest to the flags on par-three holes were John Wilson, Nos. 1 and 6; Henry Johnson, No. 10; Bob Davis, 12; Rev. H. M. Richardson, 15, and Mike Ecor, 18.

A pro-am tourney will be held by the Men's Golf Association Sunday, teeoff time being 10 a. m. Play will be preceded by a free breakfast, starting at 8:30.

Ty Cobb compiled a .367 batting average for his 24 years in the major leagues. Next best mark was the .358 Rogers-Hornsby made in 23 years.

Jaycees, Elks Clash Tonight

Pacing Jaycees place their Hot Stove League lead and five-game winning streak on the line this evening when meeting runnerup Elks in the opening game of a twin bill at Penn Avenue Field at 8 o'clock.

Manager George Flynn's nine has won seven of eight starts and the last five in grabbing a one-game edge over the second-place Elks who have a 6-2 mark. This will be the first clash of the clubs this season.

Kiwanis and Rotary (angle) the nightcap at 8:15 with the Kiwanians also taking a win bing into the contest. After losing their first three games manager Wayne White's charges have clipped off three straight to hit the .500 mark in six attempts.

Rotary, 7-6 winner over tonight's opponent, took its first four and then hit a snag to drop their next pair of tilts. A win for Kiwanis knots them with Rotary for the fourth slot in the loop.

Clovis Threat To Campbell In W. Va. Golf

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — The women moved into match competition today and the men jockeyed for the coveted top 32 positions in qualifying play at the State Amateur Golf Tournament here.

Big Bill Campbell, the precision golfer from Huntington, tied off for 18-hole qualifying round in the company of Dave Clovis, who at the moment looms as the biggest threat to Campbell's quest for his fifth state men's title.

It was Clovis, former Yale University player from Parkersburg, who eliminated Ed Tutwiler Jr. of Charleston from this same tournament in 1955. This year, it was a shoulder injury that eliminated the Charleston par-buster from defending his title.

Campbell tuned up for the tourney yesterday by carding a 71 on the par-70 Old White course—scene of the battle for the state men's title. Clovis turned in a 72 in yesterday's practice session on the Old White layout.

The 32 low qualifiers today will start match competition tomorrow for the men's crown.

Women's championship flight matches today included:

Mrs. John McCuskey of Clarksburg 85 vs. Mrs. W. M. Duncan of Beckley 94; Mrs. Rex Heck of Clarksburg 88 vs. Mrs. Charles St. Clair of Bluefield 97.

14. George Crowe banged out two homers and three singles for the Redlegs against his former mates, driving in six runs.

A Wrigley Field crowd of 28,501 say the Cards and Cubs split. Two pinch hits—a triple by Bob Speake and single by Jim Bolger—chased home the tying and winning runs for Chicago in the opener. Sam Jones allowed six hits to take the nightcap.

Newcombe recorded his eighth victory and fourth in a row as the Dodgers won their afterpiece after seeing a three-game win streak and a five-game Pirate losing streak snapped by Friend's seven-hit hurling in the opener.

Harvey Haddix and Curt Simmons pitched Philadelphia's pair of successes before 30,442 at Connie Mack Stadium. The Giants now have lost five in a row.

Prichard, Hartman Tie In Tournament

Bob Prichard and Ed Hartman tied for first in the odd-hole golf tourney by the Men's Golf Association at the Maplehurst Country Club yesterday with net 415. Hartman won the odd-hole on No. 4.

William Fisher, John Diamond and Walter Eyer had net 375 in the blind bogey tourney Wednesday. James Donahue came closest to the pin on No. 4 and Tom Gracie on No. 7.

Buddy Rice, club pro, has announced that a twilight tourney will be staged every Wednesday by the Men's Golf Association. A "Can-You-Like-It" round is scheduled next week with those wishing to participate to sign by 7 p. m. Monday. Partners will be drawn. In the tourney golfers can heckle the others in any way except to touch them or the ball.

Playoff Victory Top Thrill For Boudreau

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "Beyond any doubt my greatest baseball thrill came in the 1948 American League playoff game when Cleveland beat Boston and earned the right to meet the Boston Braves in the World Series," says Lou Boudreau, Kansas City Manager.

Boudreau played shortstop and managed the Cleveland Indians in 1948. In the playoff, the only one in American League history, he belted two home runs, two singles and drew a walk for a perfect day.

His first homer cleared the left field wall in Boston by two feet to put his team ahead 1-0. In the fourth he hit another left field homer with two mates aboard to give Cleveland a 4-1 lead.

Gena Bearden pitched for Cleveland. He says he didn't know the game was over until "I was carried off the field."

PAW PAW BOOSTERS LOSE FIRST GAME

A six-run ninth inning fell short yesterday as the Paw Paw Boosters dropped their first baseball game in eight starts with Berkeley Springs picking up a 9-7 victory on the winners' diamond. The losers were outlitt, 10 to four.

Dick Malcolm had a triple while Jim Spencer and Odie Kaylor both had a pair of singles for the Boosters. Paw Paw will play at Hedgesville this Sunday in its next game.

Cornell Oarsmen And Reds Collide

HENLEY - ON - THAMES, England, (AP) — Cornell moved in to make its Henley challenge today as the Russians confidently predicted that Soviet oarsmen will lift at least three titles at this 118-year-old Royal Regatta.

Main business of the day is the clash between the Cornell eight and Russia's Krasnoe Vznamia (Red Banner) Club in the semi-finals of the Grand Challenge Cup. Even the high riding men from Leningrad, who swept through all their Henley engagements yesterday without defeat, would not guarantee victory in this one.

But their wily, chain-smoking little coach, Boris Brichko, said through an interpreter: "we intend to have not less than three wins—in the singles, the double skulls and the paired oars. We also have a good chance in the fours."

Brichko said of the race against Cornell: "It will be the most difficult race for us in this championship. Then if we win, we could still lose to Yale in the final."

Jack Kay Holds Lead In Montreal Tourney

MONTREAL. (INS) — An unheralded home town pro, Jack Kay, took a one-stroke lead today into the second round of the $29,000 Labatt Open in Montreal.

Kay shot a first-round 67, five strokes under par for the Isle-mere Club course. Ken Venturi of San Francisco and George Bayer of Cincinnati had 68's. Bracketed at 69 were Ernie Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., Leo Biagetti of St. Paul, Pat Schwab of Dayton, O., Paul Harney of Boston and Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex.

PRO SHOP

By JIMMY DEMARET

When Ben Hogan broke out with a baseball grip for his putting, it created a big stir.

I guess there isn't a teaching pro in the business who by now hasn't been asked about the grip at least 100 times.

The answer is the same each time: "That is up to you." Outside of the technical points—reading the green, for example—the only thing that counts in putting is how comfortable and relaxed you are when you address the ball. If you were to take Hogan's grip and find it left you tighter than a wire, throw it out. This and any other method which doesn't fit you.

A man can't putt unless he's relaxed. And when he's relaxed he can concentrate on the job.

In reading the green, the golfer should find out which way the grain of the grass runs. If the grass has been cut toward you, the blades of grass lean against the ball and you have to strike it a touch harder. If you are putting with the grain, you do it slower. But this is easy. Being relaxed is the big thing.

Sammy Taylor, highly regarded by the Milwaukee Braves, is catching for Atlanta in the Southern Association. He hit .358 for Topeka, Kan., in 1956.

Bargaining Agent Election Certified

Area officials of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers have been advised that the National Labor Relations Board has certified the results of an election held to determine the bargaining agent for workers in the electrical department of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Works 7 here.

John A. Penello, NLRB regional director, advised the IBEW were forwarded to George W. Lucas, business agent of Local 307, Electrical Workers Union, by 21 votes cast in the June 19 poll. The other votes were cast for the representative.

Results of the NLRB action: Libya, in north Africa, occupies 679,358 miles.

"My luck gets worse and worse," complained Hard Luck Joe. "Look what just happened to me. Diamonds broke 4-1 with the ace in the East hand and West held the ace of Clubs. If I had gone after the clubs first, I would have been all right, but I know I was right to attack the longer suit."

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Happily married ten years, with cast-iron understanding her sudden crush on widower.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband and I have had 10 very happy years of marriage and are blessed with three beautiful children. I truly love my husband and wouldn't hurt him for the world—but I have a crush on another man and it bothers me.

"He is a widower whose wife died six months ago, leaving five children. Before that, I had hardly known him; but since then I've seen him often. He has asked my help with his children at times, and his two youngest are at our house almost continuously. I find myself running outdoors a good deal, but actually hoping to catch a glimpse of our neighbor."

When I bake for my family nowadays, I double the recipe—telling myself it's for his poor motherless children, when really it is for him. I take pains to keep myself looking especially nice, whereas before I was satisfied with average appearance for my husband.

Husband Feels Re-Discovered

My husband thinks that after years of semi-conscious feeling for him, I have suddenly awakened to his existence again. He doesn't realize my interest in the other man.

The widower doesn't know about my feelings either, and probably would lose respect for me if he did; because he isn't the type to run after another man's wife. Perhaps that's one of the qualities I admire in him—for I'm not that kind of woman either. But due to circumstances I find myself in a situation that tends to dominate my whole life. I try to throw myself wholeheartedly into my work; but always there is the thought: "Maybe he will drop in"—as he has done at times. Am I being untrue to my husband, in enjoying this interest secretly? I hadn't even looked at another man for 10 years; so why this feeling, suddenly? Can you tell me how to overcome it?—W. W.

Four Boys Share $2,910 They Found

BRIGHTON, Colo., (AP)—When District Judge Martin P. Miller ruled that four small boys were entitled to share the $2,910 they found in a vacant lot, there was only one other claimant for any of the money.

This was a woman who told the court one of the boys had given her little daughter a $20 bill for a chocolate candy cigarette, but the sheriff later confiscated the money. She felt her little girl was entitled to it, but Judge Miller ruled otherwise.

Man Drowns In Delaware

MILLSBORO, Del., (AP)—One person drowned and four other were rescued yesterday after their small boat capsized in the Indian River near here.

State police said the victim was Samuel Person of RD2, Franford, Del. Coast Guardsmen dragged the river until nightfall without recovering the body.

Witnesses said he failed to make the surface again after being thrown into the water when the 12-foot boat overturned.

Manu-Mine's Methods Approved By Specialist

HARRISBURG, Pa., (AP)—Dauphin County Court was told yesterday there was "no better way" to stabilize roadways over abandoned mine workings than that used by the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co. along the trapike northeast extension.

The testimony was given by Robert M. Fleming of State College, Pa., a retired mine manager and a part-time instructor at Pennsylvania State University. He appeared as a defense witness at the trial of nine men charged with conspiring to defraud the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission of 19½ million dollars.

Fleming referred to work done by Manu-Mine to fill mine voids under a six-mile section of the extension right-of-way. He said improper stabilization of roadways over such ground could result in disaster.

The State contends the Manu-Mine contract was used in an attempt to defraud the commission. The Reading, Pa., firm flushed silt and sand into the voids under a contract awarded in February 1955 and suspended in January 1956.

Fleming testified that if the roadbed for sections of the extension crossing over anthracite mine fields was not properly supported, it could "result in a disaster" through a cave-in along a section of the road at night.

He explained certain recommendations made by a special committee to the 1957 General Assembly and said he wrote a section of the report.

The report, he said, cited a need for mine void flushing to prevent subsidence (cave-in) in coal regions of Pennsylvania.

Fleming said he set up a course of studies on mine subsidence being given at Pennsylvania State University. He said he also gives lectures in some of the classes.

He denied there was any validity to a State Mines Department assertion that seven years after a general mine cave-in the surface above the mine becomes permanently stable.

Fleming said it was "doubtful" to support the roadway along the extension because it was to be used as a "high speed highway."

In earlier testimony in the special holiday court session, Joseph E. Speicher, a former Manu-Mine drilling supervisor, denied under cross-examination some remarks the prosecution said he made before a special grand jury which recommended the nine indictments.

Appearing as another defense witness, Speicher testified that Manu-Mine had hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of equipment in use when working on the project.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Vincent G. Patton charged that Speicher contradicted his grand jury testimony when he told the court today he had no idea of the amount of drilling Manu-Mine expected to do until after the firm had been given the contract.

Increase Noted In Tax Collections

County and state real estate tax collections during June in the office of Tax Collector J. Wallace Close at the Court House were $275,000, or 15.5 per cent higher than in June of last year.

Close said he believed generally improved economic conditions were responsible for the fact that $2,050,000 was collected last month, compared with only $1,775,000 in June 1956.

Some of those who paid their taxes in June traditionally have been waiting until as late as December to make the payments.

Last July, when a four per cent discount was allowed on county taxes, some $130,000 was collected at the Court House. In view of the June increase, the July level may be below last year's figure, Close stated.

Road Building Bond Sale Set

Nine counties will share in proceeds from a sale of $2,088,000 in county road building bonds planned by the State Roads Commission.

Subject to approval of the State Board of Public Works, the commission voted today to ask bids on the bonds July 15 and to open the bids July 30.

The bond sale is largely a convenience for the counties. The bonds are paid off by the counties from their shares of gas-tax funds. In this manner: Baltimore County $750,000, Calvert $30,000, Carroll $200,000, Frederick $288,000, Garrett $210,000, Montgomery $275,000, Queen Anne's $50,000, St. Mary's $84,000 and Washington $180,000.

The commission awarded a $147,000 contract to Whitmyer Brothers, a Hammington, N. J., sign firm. The contract provides for the erection of directional and traffic control signs for the Baltimore Harbor tunnel project.

The "trailblazer" signs will be put up on principal streets and highways leading to the tunnel in Baltimore, Maryland and adjoining states.

Cecil County's Board of Commissioners and legislative delegation will meet with the roads commission at 10 a. m. Wednesday at the Canvasback Inn, near Perryville.

Post Business Manager Dies

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Charles C. Boysen, business manager and secretary of the Washington Post Co. for many years, died last night in George Washington Hospital after a long illness. He was 61.

Boysen held several positions with the newspaper before becoming business manager in 1943. He was a native of Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Surviving with his widow are his daughter, Mrs. Jacques J. Hilbrunner, Toronto, Canada; two brothers and three sisters.

The 20 Latin American republics cover an area two and one-half times the size of the United States.

Tobacco Research Specialist Dies

LANCASTER, Pa., (AP)—Funeral services were arranged today for Dr. Walter G. Frankenburg, a tobacco research chemist and developer of the homogenized tobacco process.

He died yesterday at Lancaster General Hospital after suffering a coronary occlusion at his home in nearby Millersville. He was 63.

A native of Nuernberg, Germany, Dr. Frankenburg came to this country and was employed at the General Aniline and Film Corp. in the research division. In 1940, he joined the faculty of Johns Hopkins University and in 1942, went into research for the General Cigar Co. here. He was named a vice president of General Cigar in 1953 and a director in 1955. His development of the Homogenized Tobacco Leaf, a patented process, is credited with cutting production costs and permitting makers to continue producing low price cigars. The process involves pulverizing tobacco leaves, rolling them and forming them into cigar binders.

Dr. Frankenburg is survived by his widow, two sons, and a sister in Germany.

He did not realize great financial benefit from his famous painting, "The Angelus." He sold it for 500 francs (about $100) and it later sold for $150,000.
